Students had varied summer

University and high school students will be heading back to the classroom and books on Tuesday after spending a summer of leisure time or, if lucky, a summer of steady employment.

Many students from the village and area found work right in their own backyards. Village students found jobs at local industries, businesses, stores and nursing homes. Other students went out of town to find summer work while others worked in the out-of-doors, on a farm.

Elaine Footwear (Stirling) Ltd. provided summer working positions for 12 students. They included Lynn Merrill, Vicki Fox, Stephanie Burley, Sheri Lidster, Michael Burley, Ross Reid, Alfred Marko, Peter Tretina, Rick Farrell, Andy Brown, Alan McCaughen and Tony Svoboda.

Five girls, Judy Johnson, Lana LaChapelle, Diana Kleinstewer, Laura Hicks and Paula Hicks found summer work at the Edward St. Manor.

CHAMBER FOLDS

The steering committee, for the establishment of a Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of Wm. Webber, regrets to report that they have been unsuccessful in the reorganization of the local Chamber of Commerce.

In their belief, the essential need was the services of a managing secretary as well as Chamber executive. Such personnel at this time, does not seem to be available and until they are, this committee feels that further proceedings should be postponed.

In the meantime all paid up membership fees will be returned until increased interest is manifested.

Loyalist Awaits 140 Payees

Loyalist College has enrolled 707 students so far this year, an increase of 107 over the number registered on the second day of regular classes last year.

Students are still arriving at the college to register. About 140 have made the $35 down payment on fees, but have not yet shown up.

College officials had projected a day school registration of 845 this fall.

The 707 students include regular day students, two classes of apprentice trainees and some manpower retaining students enrolled in a regular post-secondary program.

In addition, Loyalist this year has 100 former department of national defence employees, now retired and attending Loyalist for accreditation courses.

College officials report an upsurge in enrolment in general arts courses, the result of new programs offered this year for registered nursing assistants and mental retardation counsellors.

Plan ceremony to open new dam

The Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority announce the Official Opening of the Warkworth Dam and Reservoir on Wednesday, September 13.

Back in 1966, the Township of Percy endeavored to get this project started, but many obstacles were encountered, and it was not until after the formation of the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority, that the ultimate construction and development of this area was achieved.

The official function will commence at 2:00 p.m. on the park area adjacent to the Reservoir, situated on Mill Street, Hon. John R. Rhodes, M.L.A. will act for Hon. Leo Bernier, who will be in the western part of Canada at this time.

Officials of the Authority said that CFB Trenton Pipes and Drums will be present to add pleasure and color to the occasion.

New channel on air this month

Stirling area residents will be among those who will benefit from the new television relay tower being built near Deseronto, which will provide service from CTV programs often not clearly received now.

The new facility is made possible by the fact that this month Channel 6 in Toronto, CBLT, will move to Channel 5. This will clear Channel 6 for use by the new station, it will relay the program carried on the Ottawa CTV station, CJOH.

Sports fans will be the biggest beneficiaries as the Canadian Football League games now blacked out in Toronto and Ottawa when these teams are playing at home will be available; also the Wednesday night NHL hockey games from Toronto or Montreal will be more clearly received.

Hees prominent in Tory plans

George Hees, MP for Prince Edward-Hastings, which includes the village of Stirling, welcomed the general election called Friday by Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau. In a telephone interview with the News-Argus Saturday morning, Mr. Hees issued the following statement:

"I am very glad that Mr. Trudeau, after several false starts, finally got up enough courage to call an election, and I welcome the opportunity to help outline our party's platform across the country and to discuss the issues with the Canadian people," he said.

"Mr. Stanfield has asked me to do a great deal of campaigning across the country, and as a result, I will be spending at least half of the campaign in other parts of the country, in support of Conservative candidates. The other four weeks will, of course, be spent in my own riding, discussing the election issues with the people of Prince Edward-Hastings.

"Next Wednesday, Sept. 6, I will be going to Prince Edward Island to address a large meeting which will start off the election campaign in that Province, and on Friday I will be attending the opening of the Picton Fair, as the honorary president of the fair, and later that evening, I will be presenting prizes, as I have done for the past seven years at the commencement exercises at the East Northumberland Secondary School, in Brighton."

"During the next eight weeks I will be looking forward very much indeed, to discussing the issues of the election with the people of Prince Edward-Hastings riding, and I am confident that the campaign will be a productive and interesting one," he said.

Ballet Guild sponsors new school in Belleville

A new educational institution was opened Wed., Sept. 6th, to serve this district - the Quinte Dance Centre, sponsored by the Belleville Branch of the National Ballet Guild of Canada. With courses of study in eight different types of dance and movement, the Dance Centre plans to serve the needs of all ages. Ballet, from beginner to professional is the main subject, since Director Brian Scott CDTA, ISTD, former dancer for 10 years with the National Ballet Company, believes "all other dance movement stems from the discipline and training of classical ballet." In addition jazz, tap, mime, character and national dancing, plus theatre movement and conditioning are on the timetable.

Classes are scheduled from Tuesday to Saturday, starting at 4:30 p.m. Adult classes may be scheduled earlier in the day. Registration takes place Sept. 5-9, 2-8 p.m. at the Dance Centre, 210A Front St. (over Eaton's) in Belleville.

Staff in the new school number five with the Director teaching full time. Brian Scott is no stranger to the Quinte district. Born in Ceylon, he began his dancing career 25 years ago with the International Ballet School in London, England. He has trained in London, Paris and Monte Carlo and danced with many ballet companies - Sadlers Wells, the original Ballet Russe, the International Ballet, the Folies Bergere, London's Festival Ballet, and most recently with the National Ballet of Canada.

In addition to his stage experience, Mr. Scott has danced in a number of films with such people as Gene Kelly and Vera Ellen. He has made numerous appearances on the CBC in Canada. In addition, Mr. Scott has danced in many stage musicals in London and in the United States.

As a Licentiate of the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing, (ISTD), Brian Scott is well qualified to teach the Cecchetti Method. His training also includes graduation from the Royal Academy.

For the last two years Mr. Scott has taught part time in Belleville, while studying Teaching Methods of Ballet on a Canada Council grant, instructing at the National Ballet School. He is a member of the Canadian Dance Teachers' Association (CDTA). With the increasing number of students needing more than one lesson per week to study the Cecchetti Syllabus, Mr. Scott decided to establish the professional staff school in the downtown studios in Belleville.

Guest Teacher Leonard Stepanick, from Edmonton, Alberta, has studied tap, ethnic and ballet dancing. He was awarded a scholarship to study with the National Ballet, and then offered a contract to dance with the company.

Mr. Stepanick has appeared in numerous television specials including the Emmy-winning "Cinderella," and the Emmy-nominated production of "Swan Lake." He appeared in the television production of "Romeo and Juliet" which won a Cannes Film Festival Award, and has taught or choreographed at various summer theatres in the United States and Canada.

After 13 seasons including the recent triumphant European tour of the National Ballet of Canada, Mr. Stepanick has turned to teaching. He is instructing in Belleville and Kingston.

As a new industry in Belleville, the Dance Centre has established a Budget of $25,000, employing in addition to the Director and Guest Teacher, a Student Teacher, Mrs. B. Kiser, and pianists Mrs. Lucy Vandewater and Mr. Paul Woodley.

Mrs. Sheila Kraszewski, as Chairman of the project, is in charge of Administration. She states that two special events were to take place at the Sept. 6 Opening of the Dance Centre. The new National Ballet School film is having its first public showing. Directed by Chris Homer under a Local Initiatives Program grant, the film shows the uniqueness of the school's academic and dance training. At present Mr. Homer is negotiating sale of the film to Swedish television and the Australian Broadcasting Commission. In addition to the free film showing, a door prize of two orchestra seats to an October performance of Rudolph Nureyev's new production of "The Sleeping Beauty" ballet are to be drawn.

The Belleville Branch of the National Ballet Guild of Canada, since its founding in 1956, has sponsored many performances of the National Ballet and other ballet companies, and is now expanding its project to develop a new educational institution for the young and adults of this district. Brochures are available from local libraries, this newspaper, and by mail from the Quinte Dance Centre, phone 962-9998.

Minister says funds will flow

The Honourable John White, Minister of Industry and Tourism, has announced the implementation of new measures to streamline the operations of the Ontario Development Corporation and the Northern Ontario Development Corporation.

During the debate on his Ministry's estimates in March of this year, and in other public statements, the Minister promised a review of loaning procedures. Mr. White said that the Boards of Directors of both corporations will now have authority to make repayable loans of up to $100,000 Cabinet approval, which involved some delay, will no longer be required for such loans.

The Minister also announced that he has put into effect his promise to decentralize loaning authority within the corporations. Financial officers located across the Province are now authorized to make loans to small businesses, thereby eliminating approvals by Queen's Park with the attendant delays. This is in keeping with the practice of private financial institutions in North America.

"By these measures the flow of funds to our small businesses in Ontario will be considerably speeded up," said Mr. White.

Holstein show at exhibition

The Holstein Show at the Peterborough Exhibition, held the evening of August 18 was one of the strongest ever held at this fair, and there was an excellent crowd of spectators on hand to watch Judge Dave Houck of Unionville place the awards.

The Premier Exhibitor of the show was T. Robert Flett of Oshawa, with Elmer Holsteins, Beaverton, runner-up while the Premier Breeder was Ronald Warner, Hastings, with Almeron Farms, Campbellford a close second.

Almeron Farms also showed the Grand Champion female while Robert Flett had the Reserve Grand Champion female, the Junior Champion female and Reserve Grand Champion bull. The Grand Champion bull was the winning Bull Calf, Honeydell Fury Reflector, shown jointly by David Merrill and Son, Warkworth and Honeydell Stock Farm, Warkworth.

Almeron Farms' Grand Champion female was Almeron Marquis Echo who repeated a similar Grand Championship win at the recent Northumberland Black and White Day held at Campbellford. She is a well-balanced individual with a udder of exceptionally fine texture and firm attachment. Robert Flett's Reserve Grand Champion headed the Milking four-year-olds. She is Striende Ollie Brook, who typed in closely with the Grand Champion, being very dairy-like, sharp in the shoulder, well-blended throughout and carrying a quality udder. The Grand Champion Bull for David Merrill and Son and Honeydell Stock Farm Honeydell Fury Reflector, is a sharp individual with a deepopen rib and moving well on good feet and legs. The Flett Reserve Grand Champion, Langsons Emperor White Boy, made a close fit with the champion, not only in the bull calf class, but for championship honors. He is a bull exhibiting a lot of dairy quality.

and general overall balance. Robert Flett's Junior Champion female, Whirlwind Dora, headed the Senior Yearling Heifers, the Reserve Junior award going to Almeron Farms, who stood second in this class with Almeron Dividend Jessie. The Junior Champion is well developed for her age, with considerable strength, substance, and smooth blending throughout. This heifer was shown in the Junior Dairy Showmanship Class by the Grand Champion Showman, John Buck. The Reserve Junior Champion for Almeron Farms is tall, strong on top and moves well on good feet and legs. The Breeders Herd Class was won by the Ronald Warner entry.

STORMY WEATHER
Dear Margaret Brookfield:
When I was in my adolescence, I had a very rough time with my periods. Now I'm 49, in my menopause, and having a tough time again. I have all sorts of symptoms. Is there any connection between those two time of a woman's life?
R.L.

Dear R.L.:
Dr. Charles W. Wahl, of the University of California School of Medicine, has pointed out that a patient with menstrual difficulties may also suffer a stormy menopause later on. In your own case, who not see your doctor and discuss your symptoms with him. You might also raise the question then about estrogen therapy which many physicians prescribe for patients with menopausal difficulties. This hormone treatment, which replaces the estrogen a woman's age loses - often has a calming effect on stormy symptoms.

WHAT IS CONFLICT?

The latest episode of municipal developments involving an Ontario cabinet minister reveals that federal or provincial action, or both, is needed to settle the ongoing situation where elected officials of those who might wish to run for office are really in a difficult predicament.

There has been a long list of instances this year of so-called incidents loosely termed as "conflicts of interest," where municipal and provincial politicians have been involved with transactions past or present that raise doubts as to whether or not they are fair to say that there was necessarily any wrongdoing done or implied, but as in the recent case of Darcy McKeown the bringing to light of these facts can raise doubts in the voters' minds. This was the principal reason he decided to resign from the cabinet, to remove any further possibility of the cloud hanging over his work.

Last spring in Thunder Bay, a judge ordered several councillors to resign from their seats because they had been on council when decisions were made involving property in which they had some interest, even though it was stated that they had refrained from entering into the decision-making process. If this is the case then it should be legislated.

There is a constant call for qualified men to run for public office and to be able to handle government business at any level, a person must have had some personal success in business. Such success must certainly involve property and dealings with government agencies and to remove all such people from eligibility for office would make the choice rather slim. It would be better to have designated legislation so that should a man take office, his holdings be declared and then he could refrain from participation and everyone would know what was happening.

This situation certainly is even more clearly evident in the smaller municipalities. Those men who could serve on various boards and councils would certainly be the leading businessmen in the community. Whatever decisions are made, could in most cases, be of some effect on their personal situation. Would it be fair to make these men have to sit back and not seek office? If so, then where would councillors, etc. come from at all?

Municipal life is demanding upon those who do decide to serve in it. Let's make it safe for all concerned so they can concentrate on what needs to be done, not governing without worry about past actions coming back to haunt them.

Munich

Sports events do not often make the front page of a small weekly newspaper such as the Stirling News-Argus, but as one who has followed sports for many years, and the current events of the 20th Olympiad with great interest, it seemed fitting that we should say a few words about the 24 hours endured in the German city this week.

Those who live in other countries, far removed from the scenes of guerrilla terrorism which has rocked the mid-east for many years cannot really comprehend what is going on. There are political and racial overtones which are almost unreal in their application to daily living. Especially since the creation of the State of Israel in 1948 and more vividly since the war with Egypt in 1967, these events have been on the front pages of world papers frequently, and too often tragically.

The spirit of the Olympics, wherein competition is supposed to be the dominant factor, not winning, rebels at the faintest contemplation of such events as transpired in that arena Tuesday. To realize that even the most fanatical rebel must put his selfish, headline-grabbing efforts to work here, shows just what perverted minds are behind these episodes.

The German nation has valiantly tried to present a showcase to the world, to erase the horrors of war and memories of that other Munich, from which Neville Chamberlain returned to England, waving a paper, declaring "peace in our time." That was before Hitler marched into Poland. The new German nation, under two leaders, has emerged as a dominant force in Europe and a partner in the democratic way of life.

Let's hope that others pause and reflect, as the athletes and others paused to remember and honor the memories of those who died in the needful events of the day, that governments of the nations even remotely involved in this continuing battle will make a reassessment of position and find a way to erase this blight from the daily lives of so many.

THE OLD STORY
There's nothing new under the sun.

April 5, 1832, the Canadian Freeman carried an article about the state of York Bay, now known as Toronto Harbour and demanding action from the Governor in these words:

"It is really astonishing how the magistrates can allow the horrible nuisance which now appears on the face of this Bay. All the filth of the town - dead horses, dogs, cats, manure, etc. heaped up together on the ice, to drop down, in a few days, into the water which is used by almost all the inhabitants on the Bay shore."

If they have no regard for the health of their fellow-beings, are they not afraid to poison the fish that supply their own tables? We hope that His Excellency will take cognizance of the state of the Bay from the Garrison down, and see the carrion-broth to which the worshipping magistracies are about to treat the inhabitants when the ice dissolves. There is not a drop of good well-water about the Market-square, and the people are obligated to use the Bay water however rotten. Instead therefore of corrupting the present bad supply, we think the authorities ought rather adopt measures to supply the town from the pure fountain that springs from the Spadina and Davenport Hill, which would be done at a trifling expense.

There is nothing more conducive to health than good water - nothing more destructive than bad - and what ought the authorities to watch over and protect before the health of the community?"

Of course the Town of York did eventually learn not to heap garbage and filth on the ice of the bay. But, like people all over the world, as they progressed they learned new ways to contaminate their water and air.

The encouraging thing is that there is always somebody like The Canadian Freeman around to point a finger and say, "this is wrong, we should clean it up."

That somebody can be a government inspector, a member of a citizens' action group or a concerned individual.

That somebody, the person who cares, is essential to "the health of the community."

Mrs. Arthur Reid and Mrs. Ward McInroy then presented two antique wind-up toys, which still worked after being hand made 88 years ago.

The collection was taken and Mrs. Cyril McKeown and Mrs. Ward McInroy assisted the hostess in serving lunch.

Mrs. Freda Graham of Toronto spent the weekend with Mrs. Victor Graham and Eleanor.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Colby, Donna and Dennis, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ken Parker and family of Colborne over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacMullen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ormel MacMullen at their cottage at Oak Lake on Sunday. They also visited the Sager Conservation Area and other scenic points.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

The eager, confident look gives a good idea of Ronny's personality. This eight-year-old shows a tremendous amount of enthusiasm and determination to succeed.

He has demonstrated this repeatedly in activities which were unknown to him before he came into the care of the Children's Aid Society. He is proficient in swimming and baseball and he made first string on a hockey team two weeks after he learned to skate! Though Ronny never steps back from a challenge, he is a sensitive, warm, affectionate boy who will be a rewarding son.

Ronny is a slender, well-built youngster of English and French ancestry. He has sandy brown hair, green eyes, fair skin and naturally, freckles. His general health is good but he has some nasal problems which may require surgery at maturity. He has a speech impediment which is being helped by speech therapy at school.

If Ronny is attending an open school next term, he will be doing Grade two work in mathematics and language development and Grade three work otherwise. Though he has difficulty with reading, he likes books and enjoys reading or being read to. Drawing is another favorite activity and he likes any kind of crafts.

Ronny needs warm, affectionate parents. They will not be able to place too high expectations on him academically, but can be assured of a loving son who will do his best at whatever he attempts.

To inquire about adopting Ronny, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information consult your local Children's Aid Society.

DOJARS & GOOD SENSE

BY WILLIAM J. MARTIN
Special Consultant to
Auto Financial Services

Dear Mr. Martin:
We're planning to sell our home soon and are curious about how to select a real estate broker or even whether we should use an agent at all. Can you help us out? B.M.

Dear B.M.:
Selling a home can be, and usually is, a major undertaking involving many aspects that the average homeowner is largely unaware of. This is why an agent is to be recommended in almost every case.

If you have a lot of time to show your home, you might try selling it yourself for a few weeks. After that, however, I'd recommend selecting a broker.

Among other things, an agent is advisable because of his knowledge of the local market, his office's contacts with mortgage lenders and lawyers to prepare all the necessary paperwork. An agent spends a lot of time trying to sell a house, sitting through open houses, placing ads in the paper, calling on his list of potential buyers, etc.

When it comes to selecting an agent, there is no special advice I can give you other than the general rule of thumb guides for selecting any service.

Go to someone with an established reputation and name, with a number of agents in the office that would have your listing. Check with friends and neighbors.

Look around your neighborhood to see which realtors signs you see in front of the homes that are for sale and check with these owners to see what their experience with their agent has been.

In short, except for a trial fling at selling your home yourself, unless you have particular real estate talents and contacts, you should select a good agent and work with him.

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

LIKE MOTHER, LIKE DAUGHTER

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My mother had a terrible time with her change of life. She suffered so much she made the whole family miserable. That was nearly 30 years ago. Now I'm reaching that age and not looking forward to it at all. As a matter of fact, I worry about going through the same trouble my mother did. Could such problems be inherited?

Dear L.T.:

When a woman reaches her middle years, regardless of her family background, she'll go through the menopause. It's a natural stage of life. How she copes with it, however, is determined by many factors — psychological as well as physical. When you reach your own menopause, you'll have an advantage your mother did not have. There's medical help now that just wasn't as widely available for women of her generation. Doctors can prescribe hormone therapy for women with menopausal difficulties. This treatment is designed to compensate for the estrogen deficiency that can occur when the ovaries — which produce this hormone — begin to taper off in their function. (The hormone deficiency, in turn, can bring about various symptoms.) Should you have any troublesome symptoms when you reach your own menopause, you can always check with your own doctor about such estrogen replacement. In the meantime, why not relax since help is available, should you need it?

TERRIBLE TANGLE

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My wife and I were divorced some months ago, after more than 20 years of marriage. I pleaded with her not to divorce me, but I guess I played around a little too long and got caught in my own trap. While I was married I thought that cheating was great as long as it lasted. The woman I was running around with was married and had a family of her own — two kids 9 and 11. When my wife left me, this woman said she was expecting my child and moved into my home with me. Then I found out it wasn't so great after all. From a.m. to p.m., it's nag, nag, nag. I don't have one moment of freedom in my own home. She's so jealous I can't even go into the backyard without her tagging along. I don't dare say "hello" to my neighbors because she'll start an argument with them over nothing. I'm not married to her as yet, but the way things are going, I doubt if that day will ever come. (I know what people mean when they say that middle-aged men can lose their heads.) If there are married men cheating on their wives, they'd better think twice before getting themselves involved in situations such as this. I never knew how well off I was until I got myself into this mess. Maybe we're not hurting ourselves so much, but think about all those innocent kids who have to suffer for our faults and our mistakes. What to do now? Can you help me and tell me what to do?

Dear R.T.:
There were two women in your life. Now your wife is out of the picture. She made a decision, acted on it and left. There is but one woman now. You seem to have three choices as far as your relationship with her is concerned. You might marry her; you might go on as you have been — avoiding that commitment; or you might seek to terminate your present arrangement. Each choice presents its own set of problems, because there's obviously no easy solution to the tangle you're both in. After all, she has burned her bridges behind her, too, and has a child on the way. Whatever decision you make must take these factors into account. Think it through carefully — but this time look before you leap, and think about everybody involved, not just yourself.

TOO MUCH VOO DOO

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
I have a problem about my hair. I'm losing it and it doesn't seem to grow back at all. I wrote one reason my hair wasn't growing back is that jealous people crossed me up. She said that two women and a man placed something in front of my doorstep and I stopped on it. She claims that's the real reason for my condition. Can you please tell me if she's right?

E.B.

Dear E.B.:
Hair loss has nothing to do with doorsteps or whether other people are jealous. Doctors say hair loss can result from a scalp infection, a thyroid deficiency, a very high fever, or various uncontrollable causes. To find out what might be the particular problem in your case, why not check with your doctor? He would have more helpful information than you have been receiving on what might be done about your condition.

WEDDING ETIQUETTE

Dear Margaret Brookfield:
My husband is a professional photographer. He was just hired to take some wedding pictures. The couple getting married said they'd like me to attend as well and sent us a formal invitation to the wedding. If I attend the ceremony, would I be expected to give them a gift? (I have never met them and don't know their families either.) I'd appreciate your advice on this matter.

B. P.

Dear B.P.:
Social etiquette, in most cases, is based on doing what's appropriate in the situation. Since you don't know these people, giving them a gift would not seem to be appropriate. You might wish to drop them a cordial note, however, thanking them for their invitation and saying you appreciate their thoughtfulness in asking you to attend. If you plan to go, you might add that you look forward to sharing that happy event with them. If you don't plan to go, you might add that much as you'd like to go, you won't be able to join them at that time.

Municipal enumeration is under way this week in Trenton, as in most other Ontario communities.

This one is in preparation for the coming municipal elections, slated for Dec. 4. Enumerators will call at homes bearing identification, and will seek written information to complete the local voters list.

Enumeration for federal purposes is expected to follow shortly.

The door to door municipal survey, expected to take 10 days, will be followed later this month by the federal enumeration.

Richardson - Finkle

MR. AND MRS. GARY RICHARDSON

Tabernacle United Church, Belleville, was the setting for the August 19, 1972 wedding of Linda Mae Finkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Finkle, and Gary Edwin Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Richardson, Stirling.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leslie Dean, with Mrs. Glen Wiley, cousin of the groom, at the organ and Miss Raelene Rowe as soloist. The church was decorated with white and yellow mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of lagoda with A-line skirt and bodice of chantilly lace. The dress was highlighted with a coat of matching lace with hood and built-in train. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses with green ivy.

The maid of honor was Miss Marilyn Finkle, Brampton, sister of the bride, who wore a floor-length gown of embossed yellow-flowered organza. It had a peasant skirt with frill and was adorned with yellow bodice. The dress was trimmed with yellow daisy applique which also carried through on short puffed sleeves. She carried a nose-gay of yellow mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Finkle, Hamilton, and Miss Carolyn Richardson, Stirling, sisters of the bride and groom respectively.

Gordon Pound of Corbyville was best man and Glen Wiley, Guelph and Fred Bedard, Frankford, were ushers.

For the reception in the church hall, the bride's mother received the guests wearing a sleeveless, floor-length gown of blue printed chiffon. A corsage of pink carnations completed her ensemble. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a floor-length, long-sleeved gown with champagne beige embroidered nylon on the bodice. Her sleeveless coat

Sports program focusses on fun

Sports and athletic programs at Loyalist College are focused on fun, fitness and relaxation instead of competition.

"When sports become highly competitive, winning is the only objective," says college athletic supervisor Rob Stinson. "Relaxation and fun become unimportant. We're trying to keep our programs on a fun basis, and hope to get everyone into the act."

With the opening of its own gymnasium this September, the college will offer a full sports program for men and women. In addition to Mr. Stinson, the Athletics Department will have a men's athletic officer and a women's physical education instructor who will look after recreational activities and women's volleyball.

The new gym facilities include a games room for activities like table tennis and darts.

Although the college was forced to conduct its athletic programs in borrowed facilities in past years, it has an impressive record of student involvement.

"More than 50% of our students participated in sports," says Mr. Stinson. "The average for the other colleges is 30%."

A feature of the college is its co-ed intramural sports program. Both men and women play on the same teams and skills come second to fun and enjoyment.

Co-ed sports offered this year are soccer, tennis, volleyball, basketball, table tennis and badminton.

"With the female population of the college rising steadily, we thought it time to start an inter-collegiate volleyball team," says Mr. Stinson.

But the highly skilled athlete hasn't been forgotten at Loyalist. The volleyball team will compete in the Ontario College Athletic Association League. Loyalist will also field a men's basketball team and a hockey team in the League next year as it has in the past. Coach of the hockey team will be athletic officer Bruce Cameron, who played hockey for Queen's University last year.

Loyalist has borrowed ice time at the Quinte Curling Club for its mixed team of curlers. College teams will join tournament competition in cross country running, golf, mixed tennis, mixed badminton and mixed table tennis. Students are offered a swimming program at the Ontario School for the Deaf's pool. With the opening of the gymnasium, Loyalist's athletic facilities are complete. Still to come is an outdoor playing field to replace the present field cleared by staff and students.

But football will probably never take pride of place in the college's athletic program. Not only is it too expensive, it involved fewer students than does soccer and rugby.

"Soccer and rugby are faster games, require more skills than football and are far less dangerous," says Mr. Stinson.

WEEKLY REPORT FROM FOXBORO DISTRICT

(BY JACK WOOD)

Here I am writing on safety again, instead of giving you some facts on feeds or feeding, or credit or crop management. I am doing this, however, because I know of nothing so vital as safety. Every year, someone pays the price of life because of carelessness or even ignorance about basic rules of safety.

SILCO GAS

People working around silo filling equipment have the advantage of noise or motion to help keep them alert at silo-filling time. But the danger inside the silo after it's filled, from gases produced from the fermentation process, is quiet and can be deadly.

Gas formation may begin within a few hours after material is put into the silo and continue for a long time. Usually the process continues for about three weeks. Inhalation of the gas produces a choking, asthmatic and burning sensation in the nostrils, throat, and chest. Death may occur very quickly when large amounts are inhaled.

PREVENTION

1. Don't enclose drought-stricken forage for 3-5 days following a recovery rain.
2. Don't enter silo during filling or for at least 7-21 days after filling is completed, unless absolutely necessary.
3. Run blower for 10-15 minutes before entering the silo.
4. Get out quickly at the slightest sign of throat irritation or coughing.
5. Get into fresh air immediately and call your doctor if exposed to silo gas.

Stirling WI holds meeting

Mrs. Floyd Armstrong, president of Stirling Horticultural Society, and a group of members attended their first church service for the society on Sunday, August 27th in St. Paul's United Church. The members each wore flowers for the occasion. The church was beautifully decorated with a large array of colorful bouquets of summer blooms.

Rev. John May conducted the service and he paid special tribute to the work accomplished by the Horticultural Society. He noted the planting of annual flowers in the various parks, sending cards to the sick and bereaved, and the various bus trips, and said these are all worthy accomplishments.

The hymns were all centered around gardens and flowers. This is the 75th year of organization and the society has planned a few special celebrations as a tribute to the founders. The first president in 1897 was Mrs. James Boldrick and the membership was 51.

On Tuesday, August 29, Mrs. Carman Nix, bus convener, arranged transportation with Franklin Smith of Marmora for a visit to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Thirty-seven adults and two school children enjoyed the trip. The C.N.E. was as colorful as ever, various counties conducted food booths, where everyone could enjoy exotic cooking. The Horticultural building, the Food building, and many other spots were of interest.

The country of China had a large display in the Queen Elizabeth Building. Several attended the program at the lake front and others were at the Band Shell or over at Ontario Place.

On Saturday, September 2, in connection with Stirling Fair the Horticultural Society sponsored 33 various classes of Petunias, Asters, Cosmos, African Violets, Zinnias, house plants, Gladioli, Dahlias and other flowers for all members of the fair. The specials for Horticultural members only had 20 classes and there were four classes for children. There were 240 entries in all the classes and the display tables were very attractive.

Mrs. Floyd Armstrong is also president of the Lady Directors and her group of officers were all busy with the various departments.

At the canteen they provided a variety of lunches and fried chicken dinners.

The group sponsored a draw on groceries. The bushel basket of food was won by Mrs. A. Casement of Trenton and the half bushel hamper by Mrs. Lyle Leavitt of Wooters.

The Society will resume their monthly meetings on Monday afternoon, Sept. 18 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. At a later date a special anniversary dinner will be held.

The treasurer, Mrs. Grant Hubble, will announce at a later date what member of the Society will be eligible for the Bank of Montreal trophy.

The secretary, Mrs. Jack Doran and the judge, Mrs. Harold Milne of Burnbrae spent a busy afternoon on Friday. Several of the directors assisted in many ways with the arrangements. The display of various items that was taken to the Provincial Convention at Kingston in June, was set up in the building for fair visitors to enjoy.

The Society has had an active summer and they are now planning a bus trip to the Plowing Match near Stratford.

International conference success at Island Park

Delegates from New York, Buffalo, Toronto, Montreal, Kingston, Belleville and Trenton were high in their praises of the facilities provided last weekend at Island Park for their Parents Without Partners Conference. The conference was held by the Eastern Regional Council of the PWP and hosted by the Belle-Trent Chapter. President of the Regional Council is Ruby Dennett of Toronto. This council covers an area between Montreal and Toronto and north to North Bay. The Belle-Trent Chapter of Parents Without Partners covers the lower Hastings County area from Marmora and Prince Edward County. The local Chapter was started in 1966 and presently has a membership of 35. The president of the chapter this year is Ken Wood of Belleville. The chapter holds its meetings the first Thursday of the month in Belleville and the third Thursday in Trenton. Highlights of the weekend activities at the Eastern Regional Council Conference included Art Displays, Workshops and Seminars, and a round of social activities in the Camp Conference.

Special Workshop Speaker was Bernie Naumoff, President of Western New York Regional Council. The Parents Without Partners in Canada have two councils, the Eastern Regional and the Central Regional. There are over 70,000 single parents that belong to PWP in Canada and the United States. The PWP was formed in the early 1960's in Canada where there are now 17 chapters. Key speaker at the main banquet on Saturday night was Arthur Duncan of Stirling who was given a standing ovation for his address which embodied humor and homespun philosophy as he attempted to bridge the generation gap in his defence of both senior citizens and present day youth. Delegates from widely separated areas moved from the Island Park resort with campers, tents and trailers on Friday and remained on the site until late Sunday. Tours and games were provided for the children by David and Ruth Dault, owners of Island Park. The Saturday night dinner and dance were the top social events.

HENRY FORSYTH

A resident of the Moira area where he had farmed for the past 50 years, Henry Forsyth, RR2 Stirling, died Sunday in Belleville General Hospital. He was in his 71st year. He was born in Sheffield Township, Lennox and Addington county and was a member of Calvary Temple in Belleville. Mr. Forsyth is survived by his wife, the former Mable Gertrude Holgate, one son, Thomas, of Sault Ste. Marie and two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Dorothy) Mayhew of Toronto and Mrs. Kenneth (Lois) Hewlett, RR2 Stirling.

He is also survived by two brothers, Borden Forsyth of Thurlow and Oliver of RR3 Tweed, and three sisters, Mrs. Fletcher (Clara) Deline of Brighton, Mrs. Purdy (Annie) Young of Lakefield and Mrs. Elgie (Gennie) Drinkwater of Canington. There are two grandchildren.

Cunningham promises proper representation

A no-nonsense, grass-roots, clean campaign was promised by George Cunningham Monday night in Trenton as he unveiled his team for the federal election October 30. He will contest the Hastings-Prince Edward riding, the nominated Richard Lunn of the New Democratic Party, and the expected nominee of the Progressive Conservatives, George Hees.

In a press conference at the Red Lion Motel, Cunningham stressed that his vote-getting plans will be primarily based on a low-key style, which has been adopted by the national leaders, rather than the former method of trying to fill big halls, he will meet with voters at informal gatherings such as coffee parties, and also do a considerable amount of door-knocking, to make himself more familiar to the voters which number about 47,000 -- up about 10,000 from the last election in 1968.

Cunningham's principal officers are Campaign Manager Hugh O'Neill, Trenton realtor; Official Agent Mel Boulton, a fellow teacher at Trenton High School; Finance Chairman Anthony Dalcour, sales manager of Bata Shoe Company; Trenton Office Manager Mrs. Bette Henley. The riding, which stretches from Stirling to Picton and Belleville to Colborne, will be divided into four areas for administration under co-ordinators Mrs. Norma Huffman for Prince Edward; Dr. Terry Watts, Trenton; Jack Bush, Stirling; and Northumberland will be handled by William Begg, Morganston.

Nominated by his party nearly three years ago, Mr. Cunningham was the first named candidate in Canada. He has spent that time getting well-organized and becoming better known in the area. He lost by about 3,000 votes in the 1968 election.

The main thrust of the campaign will come during the last three weeks, when Cunningham plans to take a leave of absence from teaching. Wednesday, Sept. 13 the candidate and others of his team attended a seminar in Toronto at which Prime Minister Trudeau and all other party officials from Ontario will be present to plan strategy. It is expected that from this meeting will come the choice of prominent speakers who might come to this area.

Campaign chairman O'Neill told the conference Mr. Hees should be worried about the vote, in response to the comment by a

Union says strike will cost millions

Ontario Provincial Members of Parliament have been warned that the strike lock-out at Ontario Hydro will cost taxpayers millions of dollars.

The warning came in a letter from Ontario Hydro Employees' Union President Bill Vincer, as the dispute enters its 12th week.

Cutting lost exports sales, non-maintenance of vital equipment, a slowdown in the housing industry and public safety, Mr. Vincer told the MPPs: "The people of this province -- people you represent -- will end up paying for Hydro's arrogance."

Accusing Management of bargaining in bad faith, Mr. Vincer said, "The OHEU believes that MPPs should be demanding an assessment of the situation from the publicly-owned Hydro."

He also urged MPPs to ask some penetrating questions of Hydro Commissioners and James Add, the Cabinet Minister responsible for Hydro to the Davis Government. In his letter, Mr. Vincer said the OHEU execunewman that he was apparently not worried about winning the PC nomination. "The riding has lacked proper representation for some time, and when George Cunningham wins this election, he will give the people this representation they have been lacking," he said.

Cunningham himself said he will not make specific campaign promises, because he knows one man cannot do things by himself. He has no specific campaign slogan as yet, but now that the workers are organized, he plans to get into more definite planning in the near future. Offices will be opened in Campbellford, Trenton and Picton.

Two items, the split wage and the Continental work week, are the two most contentious items left to be settled and are both Management demands," he said. "Two items, the split wage and the Continental work week, are the two most contentious items left to be settled and are both Management demands," he said.

Mr. Vincer said OHEU enjoyed a 27-year history of good industrial relations with Ontario Hydro and had no reason to believe this relationship would not continue.

"However, it was apparent from the outset of these negotiations that Management was solely interested in provoking a confrontation with OHEU," he said.

The first rotating strikes began June 25th and lock-outs and reciprocal strikes escalated until virtually all 12,000 OHEU members are now on strike. The negotiations in Toronto resumed August 28 under William Dickie, Deputy Minister of Labor.

John Foote will speak in Stirling

The guest speaker at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Churches in Stirling and West Huntingdon this Sunday will be one of the most prominent men in this area and a native of Madoc.

The Rev. Dr. John V. Foote, B.A., B.D., D.D., V.C., will speak at the service in West Huntingdon at 9:30 a.m., and here in Stirling at 11 a.m. Dr. Foote was recently named chairman of the National Development Fund of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and will be speaking on this theme.

Dr. Foote is best known nationally as one of the survivors of the Dieppe Raid in 1942, and for his heroism in that battle and the three years leadership he gave while a prisoner of war, he was awarded the Commonwealth's highest honor, the Victoria Cross.

Senior Citizens club meets

After playing eight games of euchre at Senior Citizens last Thursday, Amy Schram and Lloyd Dafe came out on top with Nellie Montgomery almost slipped by with their birthdays. Pres. Fred Heasman caught them in the act and wished them many happy returns.

The lunch was provided by Kathleen Ryan, Myrtle Tanner, Mabel Brooks and Nellie Montgomery. Don Wood of The Trent Valley Country Ambassadors presented us with forty complimentary tickets to the show for September 9th. This was much appreciated by our Club.

Looks like the colour tour through the Gattineau Hills is a certainty, perhaps on Oct. 3rd. More details at our next meeting.

Souter seeking PC opening if Grills leaves politics

Donald M. Souter, 45, a Belleville city alderman for the past three years announced today he will be seeking the Progressive Conservative nomination at the Hastings riding nomination meeting in Madoc Friday night.

Mr. Souter said he was a young energetic and aggressive team backing Robert Stanfield can change the direction this country is taking for the better. He has seen a failure to provide jobs and a pre-occupation with some sectors of this country to the detriment of others. We have seen, over the last four years, the development of a philosophy of life which is contrary to our basic instincts.

Mr. Souter said, "not all the issues are national. The federal government is pouring millions of taxpayers' dollars into other parts of Canada. Here in Hastings County we have the resources of land, water and people, yet, for example, our tourist potential is ignored by Ottawa. One of the major concerns of those elected to the House of Commons must be to improve the lot of life of rural Canada. This would be one of my prime goals."

DONALD SOUTER

Mr. Souter has been managing editor of The Intelligencer since moving to Belleville six years ago. He indicated that if nominated he would resign his position and if elected would devote full time to the business of the riding. He is a governor and member of the management committee of Loyall College; a member of the board of governors of the Belleville General Hospital; a director of the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit and a director of the Family and Children's services of Hastings County.

Mr. Souter is also a director of the Belleville Industrial Commission and is past chairman of the Belleville recreation and arena committee and a past member of the parks board.

Until his community activities absorbed much of his time he had been an ardent sailor. He is a member of the yacht club, a director of the Belleville Club as well as a member of the Belleville Sales and Ad Club.

During the past federal and provincial elections Mr. Souter played a role in supporting Mr. Grills and the Hon. Richard T. Potter. In the 1971 provincial campaign he was appointed regional resource chairman by party headquarters. He is also resource chairman for four area ridings for the upcoming Oct. 30 election.

The candidate said "the only thing which would change my mind at this late date is if Mr. Grills decides to run. However as time is dwindling before the Oct. 30 vote it became necessary to declare my intentions now."

Benny Hill, the outrageously funny little British comedian, brings his major concerns of those elected to the House of Commons must be to improve the lot of life of rural Canada. This would be one of my prime goals."

Clancy - Petherick

St. John's United Church, Campbellford, was the setting for the marriage ceremony on Saturday, August 26, 1972, when Gina Margaret Petherick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Petherick, R.R. 4, Marmora, became the bride of Lloyd Grenville Clancy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clancy, Stirling.

The Rev. Gordon Whitehouse of Campbellford officiated at the ceremony. Contemporary wedding music was provided by the organist, Mrs. Gwen Woodcock, Petherick, who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Jack Grant, Marmora, the bride's great-great uncle.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length, embroidered white silk organza gown, featuring mandarin collar and short puffed sleeves. The gown was highlighted with trimming of satin ribbon over delustrated satin and a chapel train. The three tiered shoulder length veil of illusion tulle was caught to a lace floral headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations in shades of pink.

The maid of honor, Miss Brenda Watson, Campbellford, the bridesmaids, Miss Vicki Petherick, sister of the bride, Miss Jane Scott, Campbellford, Miss Ilan Petherick, sister of the bride, and the flowergirl, Miss Pamela Finch, R.R. 4, Marmora, were groomed identically in floor length gowns of hot pink with over-dresses of dotted Swiss. The gowns were styled with empire waists, scoop necklines, cape sleeves and trimmed with sculptured lace and tiny rose buds. White picture hats completed their attire. They carried colonial nosegays of daisy mums.

The bridegroom was attended by George Reid, R.R. 2, Campbellford.

Ushers were Allan Colden, Point Anne; Franklin Stapley, R.R. 4, Stirling and Douglas Petherick, brother of the bride, Master Gary Spry, Toronto, cousin of the bride, dressed in white vest and pants and pink shirt was ring bearer.

The reception was held in the church auditorium where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a pink and yellow figured, long sleeved, floor length gown of polyester crepe. White accessories and a corsage of yellow mums completed her ensemble.

The bridegroom's mother assisted in a floral floor length gown styled with scoop neckline and long tiered sleeves. A corsage of mauve mums complemented her outfit.

Jack Grant of Marmora was master of ceremonies at the reception.

The happy couple made their departure from the wedding dance held at Island Park Pavilion. For the wedding trip through the Eastern states and provinces, the bride donned a striking long red polyester crepe dress with front-slit skirt. White accessories and a corsage of white mums completed her attire.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Clancy will reside at R.R. 4, Stirling. Previous to the marriage Mrs. Lloyd Clancy (nee Gina Margaret Petherick) was honoured at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Brenda Watson, Campbellford.

Lloyd Clancy was presented with gifts of money from fellow workers at Brooke Bond Foods, Belleville, and from former classmates and friends at a party held at the Riviera, Campbellford.

The groom's parents entertained the wedding party at a rehearsal buffet dinner in the Masonic Hall, Stirling.

Brethour Candidate

Unlike the other national parties in Hastings riding, the New Democratic Party will not be holding a nominating convention this month, having selected a standard bearer at a party meeting in Belleville last Feb. 7.

In the field for the NDP in Hastings is Elridge Brethour, a 40-year-old fuel oil dealer and distributor from the North Hastings community of Cardiff.

The first declared party candidate in Hastings riding is married with two children and is now making final campaign arrangements.

Brethour has been active in tourist promotional activities, having served as past president of the Madawaska Tourist Association. He now holds the post of treasurer of the Eastern Ontario Co-ordinating Council of Tourist Organizations.

The NDP candidate is also a member of the Masonic Lodge.

SEEK LARGER LOANS

Being a provincial member of parliament in Eastern Ontario is not an enviable job amid the present crop disaster.

And farmers want the job to become more uncomfortable and pressured until more is done to compensate for their income loss.

"Giving farmers a debt load for tomorrow is no gift today, it is a liability," says Gordon Hill, President, Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

The federal and provincial governments have come up with a joint aid plan. It gives six-year guaranteed loans to disaster victims, and food transportation assistance.

"We are sending questionnaires to our Eastern members to gather reaction. If members are content with the government plan, the Federation will wind up its campaign. But I do not see an end, I've talked to too many farmers with staggering losses. They need more, but we are waiting for the questionnaires to tell the full story. Then, we'll act."

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture has asked the federal and provincial governments to share costs of forgivable loans equalling 2/3 of a farmer's crop loss.

"We are convinced it is the Ontario government that is dragging its feet. We are urging farmers to use their power as taxpayers. Write and phone your protests to your Provincial Government member."

A FORUM ABOUT MATURE WOMEN

WHO'S SELFISH?

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

I'm the eldest of three sisters. The two younger ones left home at an early age and I cared for both my parents. My father died 25 years ago and my mother had depended on me since then. When I was 41, I met and married a divorced man of 51. While I was married, mother lived by herself, but finally got to the age where she couldn't be left alone. She divided her time among each of us sisters, but eventually reached the point where she had to stay in one place. She decided she wanted to stay with me. My sisters said she should be put in a nursing home. I opposed the idea. (I had then been married 11 1/2 years.)

When I approached my husband about my mother living with us, he was very much against the idea. He gave me an ultimatum. He said I should either put her in a home and stay married to him or get divorced and live with her. I told him he was extremely selfish. He got a Mexican divorce. We've been apart for two years now. He lives in another state, is collecting social security and has a small job. I hear from him from time to time and know he's just waiting for a funeral to get me back. (Mother is 86 now and probably will still be around for a while.) I do miss him and wonder if I should consider going back. I'm so unhappy. Church work doesn't interest me anymore. Seeing my old friends doesn't help. What would you suggest?

G.H.

Dear G.H.:

Your devotion to your mother has been beyond reproach. You have devoted the major part of your life to caring for her. But you're a person with a life of your own. To continue to deny that life is to be unfair to yourself and your ex-husband, who apparently still loves you. Perhaps he wasn't the selfish one after all. Perhaps he felt that by your decision you were choosing to live half a life instead of a whole one. Your mother has three daughters. Decisions concerning her should involve all of you equally. So why not get together with your sisters again. You'll be able to work out what is best under the circumstances for everybody concerned.

RIGHT FROM WRONG

Dear Margaret Brookfield:

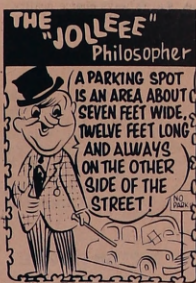

I'm a 73 year-old widow, I have a good friend, a widower, who wants us to marry and spend the rest of our lives together. However, if I marry I'll lose my pension which is the only income I have. As it is, we can just barely manage financially. Please tell me: is it a disgrace for us to live together since we're both alone in the world? Could you show me right from wrong?

J.S.

Dear J.S.:

It certainly doesn't seem right for two unattached people who want to spend some time together to forfeit part of what little money they have. A number of authorities have indicated that in such situations, hard and fast rules might no longer apply. One way to decide the matter is to take the various pros and cons into account. If two older people want to offer one another their companionship, it doesn't seem right to throw hardship in their way.

What now?

The announcement last week about the demise of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce apparently came as little surprise to anyone as there had been one comment, good or bad, about the situation. If this is a true reflection of the interest of the local business community in promoting the village, then the decision taken must surely be the right one.

In what everyone seems to consider the expanding prosperity of the country, to have this situation prevail in Stirling, makes one wonder just what is required to promote the village in some way. Or, do the local people not want to promote it? Most places today have a group, regardless of the name, that sponsors a special event such as a winter carnival, homecoming week, festivals of varying types and sizes, just to name three examples. Bancroft, for instance, has become known as the headquarters for the rockhound enthusiasts; Tweed and other nearby centres have winter carnivals.

In addition to promoting the community, such groups provide a meeting place for all segments of the business community, where any mutual problems can be discussed. While there are often sections for various interests in larger places, nearly every business in Stirling should have a mutual development interest. It is a recognized fact that local businesses must compete with lower prices in nearby centres, and must utilize the service aspect especially. While each business advertises its own specialty, a united campaign on local advantages generally is something that needs to be kept before the shopping public.

Just what will evolve, if anything, from the committee report, it is too early to tell. Perhaps there are some businessmen who may come up with some scheme to try and promote the village in some manner. The place has things to offer, but unless people know about them, they won't come. What helps one business, indirectly helps all.

Weekly Meditation

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

(By Rev. J.F. McGarvey)
In Matt. 10:40 we read: "Any one who welcomes you welcomes me; and those who welcome me welcome the one who sent me."

If the disciple is identified with Christ, when what is done for the disciple is done for the Lord. To receive a disciple would be receiving Christ, and to minister to a disciple would be ministering to Christ. To do the very smallest kindness to the very humblest Christian cause is to do for our Lord a service that bears with it an eternal reward.

Wouldn't you like to do a service for our Lord? Wouldn't you like to gain that eternal reward?

We are prone to forget the precious significance of the seemingly small ministries of life. The cup of cold water offered in the name of a disciple; the warm friendship expressed by the simple gestures of a helping hand. We are all too prone to define life only in terms of "gigantic."

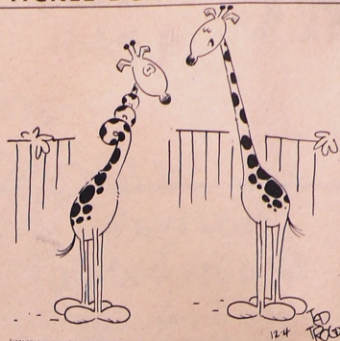

'colossal' and 'supersonic.' The pattern of God's life differs so much from ours. The quiet ministries of Heaven are hardly noticed, yet they are faithfully bestowed. The meteor that shoots across a darkened sky, and in a moment is seen no more, is often the cause of much excitement and the topic of conversation.

But the sunshine of a summer day, full of God's blessing, passes without remark; the golden sun sinks to its couch in the west without so much as an adieu from a thankless world. Yet we are blessed by the gentle sunshine more than by the startling meteor. It is the same way in God's spiritual world: the simple ministries of God's humble servants are the very heart and soul of the life of Christ.

Be a humble servant of the Lord. Your simple ministries, your kindnesses as you go through your day, your prayers, etc. are the very heart and soul of the life of Christ on earth.

The reckless driver who leaves a trail of burning rubber as he takes off in a jack-rabbit start, is demanding a need for attention. St. John Ambulance suggests. The squeal of tires as he goes around a corner is one more way of showing rules are not for him.

YOUR SMALL SHARE

If we divided the world now, your share would include four acres of farm, four acres of brush and forest and four more of mountain and waste.

You would get four pounds of uranium, 70 tons of iron, 200 pounds of copper, 50 pounds of lead, 30 pounds of nickel, 4000 tons of coal and 40,000 gallons of oil or natural gas.

Queen's University professor Reginald Clark worked out the figures for more than 200 high school students attending the second Environment Ontario Straight Goods conference in Kingston August 28-30.

"Think of this as all there is for you, your children and your children's children and you'd probably use it carefully," said Dr. Clark to the teenage delegates from across Ontario.

Provocative ideas, challenging questions and the tough, "Show me" attitude of the young delegates. That's what makes The Straight Goods work.

The students were invited to draw on the information resources of three dozen representatives of government, industry, education and action groups.

And they were advised from the start not to take anything for granted - not to be little robots taking a party line back to their schools.

They took that advice. Instead of just listening, they did some thinking and came up with their own viewpoints.

They challenged industry and government for not doing enough. They challenged a Pollution Probe spokesman on Probe water tests that disagreed with Ontario Health Ministry tests.

On this one, they tried to work out an answer on their own. A note on the informal bulletin board urged students to bring the glasses from their rooms instead of using the throwaway cups.

They heckled each other for using the throwaways. And they learned that solving problems is not always simple.

The next coffee break, they found glasses were too hot to hold. And the students who used paper napkins to protect their hands were reminded that napkins can be a garbage problem too.

Three days of digging into environmental issues left them convinced that it was not enough to just recommend action on specific problems such as pollution cleanup. They recommended across-the-board change.

One resolution concluded: "We affirm the need for drastic change toward a societal rather than an individual way of life."

And before they left to share what they have learned with their schools, they voted to set up the machinery for another conference next year.

The rest is up to you.

Delivering a constant flow of power, dependably and safely—that's your Hydro's round-the-clock responsibility. And because electricity provides so many services so dependably, most homeowners can take it for granted. And yet, in many homes over ten years old, the quality of service is severely restricted—simply because the wiring is outdated and inadequate. Rewiring can make a world of difference: In convenience, by providing ample outlets and switches where you want them. In performance, by bringing full power to your appliances so that they can operate at peak efficiency. In safety, by eliminating the hazards of an over-burdened wiring system. Good reasons for giving top priority to your home wiring when you consider making improvements.

To find out what rewiring can do for your home, call a qualified Electrical Modernization contractor soon. Or ask your Hydro.

MR. AND MRS. RAY SARLES

Sarles - Cotton

Bouquets of pink and white gladioli and white chrysanthemums adorned St. Mark's Anglican Church at Bonarlaw, recently when Joyce Ann Cotton daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cotton, R.R. 5 Stirling became the bride of Murray Ray Sarles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Sarles, 6 Roger St. Picton.

For the reception, held in the church parlours, the bride's mother greeted guests wearing a rose fortel polyester knit dress with lacy rasciel knit trim and sleeves and matching sleeveless coat. White accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations enhanced her dress.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a blue floral dress of imported de-lustered satin with a matching sapphire blue coat and white accessories. A corsage of blue and white carnations completed her dress. For the wedding trip the bride chose a floral printed dress of polyester crepe with a sleeveless navy coat and a single white gardenia with stephanitis corsage.

Letter to the editor

Dear Friends, Workers together,

Ladies and Gentlemen I feel the time has come to make a statement and declare the stand we have taken - and the facts concerning the community Drive-In Church Services, which has grown to the proportion it has reached, and is enjoyed by so many. To some it is known as "The Peoples Church." We have sought to arrange and conduct these services for the public in the benefit of the community and surrounding area and for the good of all people, to God's honour and Glory. This has involved much prayer, consideration and work. I believe the above consists of three aspects in keeping valid the great commission given by our blessed Lord, first to His disciples in Mark 16:15, and also to all believers "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel, to every creature." This we have endeavoured to do here in the Ball Park at Springbrook.

Aspect No. 1 - is the prayer support of God's people, which is most important, to which many have responded and all have been faithful.

Aspect No. 2 - is moral support, for which this has been greatly manifested by the regular attendance, thus encouraging us to carry on. Many have voiced their appreciation, to which has been gratefully received.

Aspect No. 3 - Financial support, for which we offer our sincere thanks and appreciation to the churches and to all the dear ones who have stood past us in this humble endeavor, for these past seven seasons. We know God will bless you all in His own special way.

We want to extend a special "Thank you" to all who have given so willingly their time and their faith, some having come from long distances to help in these services.

Recently we have added a new dimension to our services - namely the Senior Citizens Bus Service from the Stirling Area, thus enabling many dear folk to come out and enjoy the message in the Gospel, the Spiritual Songs and the reading together of God's love she has shown in so many ways in the service of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, with me, I personally thank God.

So now my wife joins me, along with many others, in voicing our humble thanks to one and all, for your continuing faithfulness, your lovingkindness, and your words of encouragement, beseeching God to Bless you all, I am.

Yours in His Service,
Hubert S. Andrews.

The above statement was prepared and read at the Community Drive-In Church Service at Springbrook ball park on August 20, 1972.

River Valley WI meeting

River Valley Women's Institute convened at the Centre on Sept. 7th with 23 members and three visitors in attendance.

A large array of lovely bouquets of garden flowers were used for decoration.

Mrs. Alex Bush welcomed the guests as they arrived and Mrs. Ross Bush was kitchen hostess.

Mrs. George Grills opened the meeting with the Institute Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect. Mrs. Philip Conley was musician.

Mrs. Gerald Brooks read the August minutes and corresponded. Mrs. J.L. Donohoe gave the financial statement which included a report of the catering for the recent wedding.

Mrs. Harry Morrow outlined the financial statement re expenses and receipts of the Institute Centre as written on the chalk board and gave an explanation dating from April 1st to September 1st.

A committee was appointed to arrange the Boy Scout Banquet on Oct. 14 at the Centre and the menu was read.

Messages of thanks were read from Mary Hoard, Myrtle Rosebush and Marie Donohoe.

The forty-sixth annual convention of the Trent Valley Area will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 24 and 25 in Northminster United Church, Sunset Blvd., Peterborough. The theme of the friendly convention is "Vision with Action." On Wednesday afternoon there will be a tour of Trent University. Early in 1973 there will be a short course with more particulars later.

The Convenors reports were: For Agriculture - Mrs. James Hoard gave a message re The Maritime Provinces; For summer Affairs Mrs. Robert Hoard displayed a catalogue which depicted on page 20 The Care of Fabrics.

Mrs. Roy Bush gave a few highlights of their recent visit to the Prairie Provinces. She said the people there are proud of their heritage.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Public Relations Officer, gave a few experts re the 4-H Girls Clubs and institutes that displayed special items at the Quinte Exhibition in Belleville.

Mrs. Roy Tucker, A.C.W.W. Convenor, read a poem "What is a Grandmother?" from Federal News. The Pennies for Friendship were then gathered.

Mrs. Jack Bush, Resolutions Convenor, introduced the guest speaker, Robert Ord, Barrister, Belleville, who does the legal business for Sidney Township. He based his informative message on "What Women should know about Law." He gave the proper procedure and the formal requirements that are necessary in order that a will would be valid. It is most important to have a will made as it is far more expensive for a court to administer your affairs. A will should be properly signed and every item carefully written according to your wishes. A marriage makes a former will invalid. The executor should be someone who understands the needs of the family.

Other items discussed were succession duties, gifts, previous to death, capital gains tax and jointly held property. The speaker stressed that the best will is one prepared by a lawyer.

Mrs. John Mackey voiced appreciative thanks to Mr. Ord and made the presentation of a gift of cheddar cheese, for which he extended thanks.

On Sunday, Sept. 17th Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Fitchett were 'at home' to relatives and friends on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary. The celebration, at which 250 attended, was held in the Oddfellows hall in Stirling. The hall was suitably decorated for the occasion with gold streamers and bells, baskets of mums and autumn flowers.

Senior Citizens hold meeting

There were 12 tables in play at Senior Citizens on Thursday. Edna Sharpe and John Holmes were high and Florence Dafeo and Gord Bailey were low. The lunch was served by Florence Dafeo, Lil Heasman, Helen Fitchett and Mina Smith.

Vice Pres. John Kane was in charge of the meeting. Our president, Fred Heasman, is in Belleville hospital and we are hoping that he will soon be back with us, all patched up and ready for more mileage.

The color tour for Oct. 3rd is all sold, I believe there is a waiting list for any cancellations. We were happy to have Gertrude Belshaw back with us again after too long an absence.

We congratulate Margaret and Will Fitchett who are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary this week. They say it is not possible for a woman to live with the same man for over 50 years, for after 50 years he's not the same man.

Hees Re-nominated For This Riding

Election fever is beginning to mount in the Hastings area, as both the Liberals and Conservatives in Hastings riding will nominate their candidates next week, while Hastings-Prince Edward became a three-way fight Monday night with the nomination of George Hees, the incumbent Progressive Conservative, at Brighton.

He will seek to retain his seat against George Cunningham, the Liberal candidate from Ameliasburg and Richard Lunn, the NDP standard bearer from Belleville.

Perhaps the most interesting nomination in the area will be next week when the Hastings PC's hold their convention at Madoc. The exact date has not yet been set. Veteran M.P. Lee Grills of Belleville announced Monday he will not contest the seat he held for 13 years. Three men, Donald Souter of the Intelligence, former Belleville Mayor Jack Ellis and Mac Smith, veteran school trustee have all stated they will seek the nomination.

Hastings Liberals' convention is also slated for next week. Enumeration for the October 30 vote was concluded Saturday, and the lists go to the printers this week for printing and subsequent distribution.

So far, no plans have been announced for any major activity in the Stirling area.

Hydro - Union Agree on Many Issues

Wednesday the strike against Ontario Hydro by its 12,000 member union moved into its 14th week with no end of the dispute in sight.

H.J. Cox, manager of Hydro's Frankford area, said "Progress toward a settlement was made last week when Hydro presented 80 non-major items to the Union during a joint bargaining session under the direction of the provincial mediator. The Union accepted the items, leaving 30 still outstanding."

"In an attempt to break the stalemate, Hydro modified its position on 16 items, while gaining one. The other 53 items are unchanged from the last contract which expired on March 31," said Mr. Cox.

The 30 items still outstanding include wages, job security and shift scheduling, which are identified as being key elements in a settlement of the summer-long dispute.

"Later in the week, William Dickey, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labor, appointed a sub-committee to study the research of both parties as it applies to positions on wages for electrical, thermal and nuclear operators. The sub-committee is headed by Professor T.C. Graham, former director of the University of Toronto's School of Business. His report is to be submitted directly back to the Ministry of Labor," said the Area Manager.

Mr. Cox described the strike scene as quiet with all but a handful of the 12,000 members continuing to remain off the job. "Picketing has recently been conducted in a hit and miss manner with few or no pickets appearing at some work locations across the province and relatively heavy representation at others," he said.

Meanwhile, Hydro Management Staff continues to fulfill their responsibility of keeping Ontario Hydro running smoothly and supplying the people of Ontario with vital electrical energy.

Jeffrey family reunion held

Minto Community Hall was the site of the Jeffrey Family Reunion on Sunday, September 10, 1972.

Sixty-seven relatives enjoyed a buffet dinner, conversation and games and the adults bingo and visiting.

The afternoon passed quickly as the children enjoyed races and games and the adults bingo and visiting.

The organization party for the next reunion will consist of Wilbur Bateman, Tweed, Ont. as president; Graham Mouck, Stirling as vice-president; John Bateman, Kingston as secretary-treasurer.

Four o'clock saw the families separating again for another year. Relatives in attendance were from Sudbury, Toronto, Kingston, Nanapanee, Belleville, Tweed and Stirling.

Bantam Hockey Boys Get Jackets

The final chapter in the Stirling Bantam's 1971-72 hockey season was written on Sunday afternoon at the Legion Hall, when each of the 21 boys received a very attractive jacket.

The money for the jackets came from the proceeds of the ticket sales on the $400.00 jackpot won by Don Dempsey of Belleville.

Results of the ticket sales were as follows:

Total proceeds	$1,013.00
Less Jackpot	400.00
	613.00
Less Printing costs	14.11

Towards costs of Jackets 598.89

Included in the above proceeds was a generous donation from Ernie Munro.

Club statistics are as follows: Games played - 41; Games won - 35; Games lost - 6; Goals for team - 270; Goals against team - 121.

The following is a list of the players, the goals they scored during the season, their assists and total points at the end of the season in this respective order: FORWARD: Stan Myers 63, 72, 135; Kevin Solmes 66, 62, 128; Rob DeJong 53, 59, 112; Wally Blakley 8, 20, 28; Cliff Reid 11, 10, 21; Doug Bastedo 8, 4, 12; Gary Utman 5, 5, 11; Dale Kleinstuber 6, 3, 9; Pat Long 5, 3, 8; Paul Munro 3, 5, 8; Brian Hadley 5, 2, 7; Rob Robinson 2, 0, 2; Rick White 0, 2, 2; Rob Jones 0, 1, 1; DEFENSE: Glen Dettlor 15, 25.

40; Dave Jeffs 6, 22, 28; Jeff Farrell 6, 13, 19; Mark Dobson 5, 4, 9; Terry Bailey 2, 3, 5.

Goalies Richard Whittam played 20 games, had 52 goals scored against his team which was 2.6 goals against his average, and John Bush played 18 games, had 61 goals scored against his team which was 3.4 goals against his average.

The club statistics speak for themselves. When a club can win 35 out of 41 games and outscore the opposition 270 to 121, it is very close to championship caliber. Only once all year were they defeated two games in a row and those two defeats were in their last two games when six nations came from behind to win the championship.

The manager, Cecil Solmes and coach, Bob Whittam want to thank all the parents for their support, without that assistance such success would not have been possible. Also to be thanked are Doug Patterson and Bill Mulholland for their assistance in dealing with the O.M.H.A.

Dedicate Window At St. John's Church

The Venerable Nicholas Ridley Stout, a one-time resident of Rawdon Township, will return to Stirling on Sunday, Sept. 24th to preside over the dedication of the newly installed stained-glass windows in St. John's Anglican Church, Archdeacon Stout will also preach on the occasion of the Annual Harvest Festival.

A young boy, Archdeacon Stout lived on the 6th of Rawdon, just east of Minto Community Hall. For many years Mr. Stout was rector of the Anglican Christ Church in Gananoque, where he retired several years ago. Presently he is living in Peterborough where he intends to build a new house.

St. John's Anglican Church is receiving an additional touch to enhance its already stately Gothic beauty. The parish has commissioned the artist, Mr. Griffith of Newcastle to install a stained-glass window on the south side of the Church. The theme of the window deals with the Nativity of Jesus, and in the lower section of the huge glass, there is depicted the Flight into Egypt. This window will be dedicated to the memory of many parishioners, as a result of the establishment of a Memorial Window Fund. In lieu of flowers at funerals, many people, as well as the organizations within the church, make a donation to the Window Fund. Over the years the money has accumulated to the state where this new addition to the beauty of St. John's is now possible. It is expected that many friends and former acquaintances of Archdeacon Stout will be attending the Dedication, as well as the relatives and friends of those people in whose memory the stained-glass window will be dedicated.

MINISTERS CONFER

Sunday, He also spoke at the morning service at West Hunt- ington, Rev. Foote was recently appointed chairman of this fund which will be used to assist various causes with in the church across Canada.

Following the service, there was an opportunity for some of the speakers' former schoolmates and friends to enjoy a fellowship hour.

Soutter Seeks Young Vote

"One out of every five voters in Hastings County will be voting for the first time in a Federal election October 30," said Hastings PC candidate Donald Soutter. "and it is imperative that their hopes and aspirations be considered."

Mr. Soutter is seeking the nomination for Hastings riding, made vacant when incumbent Lee Grills decided to retire after 13 years of political office.

Mr. Soutter said that "it is essential in appealing to all residents of the riding that a candidate has vision coupled with humanity and integrity coupled with the ability to accomplish tasks. In today's society where young people have questioned our way of life this becomes doubly important."

The PC hopeful said "there is genuine concern in rural Canada today about the future. In Hastings County it is imperative that those who have contributed to the strengths of this country over the past decades should have the equal opportunity to share in its successes.

It is also imperative that the younger voter, who has seen what has happened -- or not happened -- to this area in its development should have the positive assurance that the candidate elected to represent this riding will seek out their advice, respect their counselling and be dedicated on their behalf. I suggest as an individual who has devoted many years to such a task, I am the man to represent Hastings riding."

Mr. Soutter has been an older man in the City of Belleville for the past three years, is a member of a number of joint county, city organizations and in this election and the last provincial election has been a national and provincial PC party association chairman.

Wheat Board Buys 5 million

The Ontario Wheat Producers' Marketing Board released figures on August 30th, indicating it has purchased nearly five million bushels of 1972 crop wheat.

Marketing board chairman, William Brander, R.R. 8, Mississauga, said the figure represents a volume of about 1.4 million bushels greater than that purchased by the board one year ago.

Reflecting extremely poor harvest weather in Central and Eastern areas of the province, the board was required to purchase 334,000 bushels of low grade sprouted wheat.

With harvest still to be completed in Eastern Ontario, the sprouted volume of wheat offered to the board may increase.

Mr. Brander said sales of board owned stocks to date amount to 902,000 bushels, leaving a net balance of 4,025,000 bushels on hand. The sales have all been made to overseas markets.

The board chairman also advised that some difficulty had occurred in forward movement of board stocks into the St. Lawrence terminal storage elevator system because of facilities being under pressure from unusually high volumes of western grain moving east.

Mr. Brander said, however, that stocks had moved to Bale Comeau and Port Cartier to meet outstanding export commitments. Other stocks were to be located at Montreal, Kingston, Port Colborne, Port Stanley, Walkerville, Wallaceburg, Sarnia and Goderich.

Of further concern to the marketing board directors, according to Mr. Brander, were stocks of sprouted wheat owned by the board which were of feed quality. Mr. Brander said the board was hopeful these stocks and possible additional purchases of stale additional purchases of sprouted wheat would move into feed markets in Quebec, the Maritimes or export markets.

In this regard, the board planned to meet with representatives of the Canadian Livestock Feed Board in the near future to initiate discussions on the feed market requirements in Quebec and the Maritimes and the potential for utilization of Ontario wheat.

Feed freight assistance which applied to western feed grains moving to Eastern Canada areas did not apply to Ontario wheat at that time and this aspect would also be discussed with the Canadian Livestock Feed Board, according to Mr. Brander.

Presbyterian women's group holds meeting

At the September meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women, "Beginning Again" was the theme of the re-dedication ceremony with all the ladies taking part. Because we become discouraged or bored in our daily work and outside activities, we welcome occasions that give us a chance to begin anew.

Some of us feel this sense of beginning again in September as school opens, and the activities of church and community begin afresh. This is the season of beginning again, especially in North America. Others may think of New Year's Eve as the magic moment when hope and resolution transform our work and responsibilities. Our work or our vocation is the means by which we work out our faith in daily living. It is good to consider our vocation in the light of our faith, and so work through to the sense of beginning again that such a look allows us.

The minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary. Various items of business were discussed including plans for a tea and bake sale to be held October 11.

Everyone enjoyed a sing song and Mrs. S. Boyce gave a reading, "September Memories." Hymn 568 and the Benediction brought the afternoon to a close. A social time was enjoyed by all.

HELP NEEDED?

Residents of the Village of Stirling who live by choice or necessity over their business premises in the downtown business area must be among the most long-suffering encountered for some time. After hearing direct and indirect reports about the happenings that occur in the late evening and early morning hours, why council has not been approached or petitioned for police protection is something difficult indeed to comprehend. This past weekend was perhaps typical, and finding a smashed beer bottle and evidence of sickness on the doorstep leads one to conclude that one or more individuals really have little to do other than occupy doorsteps and sidewalks. Reports of beer being consumed on the main street do not give one any choice but to feel that something needs to be considered, one any choice but to feel that something needs to be considered. It should be pointed out that such conduct is not a special feature of this community, nor are any of the other factors which disturb those attempting to quietly enjoy their home life. These things happen in any community, perhaps with more or less impunity than they do here. The one regular occurrence which probably ultimately leads to those incidents which fray the nerves, is the congregation of people in doorways, at corners and other locations, we suspect, initially just to pass the time. It is from such happenings that a remark is passed which may at first seem like a comical comment, but soon a way or ways are found to carry out the suggestion or a variation of it. Before anyone involved realizes what is transpiring, something occurs which is past the point of fun and there is a mess to be cleaned up. If this is a rare occurrence, it would pass almost unnoticed. It may be passing, seemingly unnoticed, but the occurrence seems to be becoming more and more frequent.

Weekly Meditation

CONTRIBUTED BY STIRLING CLERGYMEN

Rev. John A. May.

Text: Mark 1:9
"In those days Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee..."
The man or woman who takes time to find this man Jesus, and to think about him in his teachings, discovers many things. We find that his personality is unique. He is theanthropic-God-man. Because he is God, he can reach out with one hand and grasp hold of God and reach out with the other hand and grasp hold of the poor, lost man or woman and thus make a bridge of reconciliation bringing God and man together.

That same Jesus, the Christ, is unique among the founders of religions. Suppose you had the power to subtract the founder of each major religion from the religion bearing his name. With-draw Confucius, Buddha, and Mohammed from Confucianism, Buddhism, and Mohammedanism, and you have not changed these religions one iota. But when you subtract Christ from Christianity you have nothing left... what he is, Christianity is; and what Christianity is, he is.

The resurrection points to the uniqueness of Jesus Christ. The founders of religions lie dead in their graves, but the founder of Christianity transcended all others and came out of his sepulcher triumphant. Today he is living.

Jesus was also unique in his being. Every man is created in the image of God rationally, morally, and spiritually, possessing innate categories of the mind and norms of the soul. Because of sin and time, God's image has been well-nigh effaced, certainly defaced. In our innermost constituent natures are norms of goodness, justice, harmony, beauty, honesty, and truth. If I could pull out of my inner being my ideal of goodness, my norm of justice, my ideal of mercy... yes all my ideals and tie them up into one great synthetic personality who would possess them all... Jesus would equal and excel all of this.

Jesus is also unique in that he has made available power to enable every man to be a victor and not a victim. He not only proclaims an ideal philosophy embodying lofty principles, but he also gives daily power to enable one to live the Christlike life.

TICKLE BOX® by Ted Trogdon

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

THE BEAUTIFUL LITTERBUGS
There's a scene I keep seeing in television commercials advertising various breweries.

It shows a man - a man's man in the great outdoors with dew-sparkled, frosty-cold bottle of beer. This he-man type, all Canadian to the core, with an anopener and a delicate but ever-so-masculine twist of the wrist sends the cap spinning off the bottle. Then the bottle is poured or raised, presumably to the lips.

What bothers me is this. I have never seen this man any of the men in these commercials bend over to pick that bottle cap up.

As far as that goes, I've never seen a litter bag or even a glimpse of a litter receptacle or trash can in any outdoor commercials for bottled or canned beer or soft drinks.

I think it's about time for advertising to be a bit more conscientious about littering.

Maybe if everyone concerned in a commercial had to walk barefoot along a beautiful sunset-lit beach paved with popcan pull tabs and bottle caps sharp-side up...

And what about the people shown in a countryside setting enjoying the cool, refreshing flavor of their brand-name cigarette? Did you ever see one carrying an ashtray? What do they do with their cigarette butts?

We can mess up our great outdoors effectively enough without this sort of encouragement from advertising.

I don't want to be critical of the friendly people who bottle your favorite beverage. Generally speaking they do take some interest in what happens to the products and containers they sell.

Brewers Retail stores in Canada cheerfully buy back bottles and cans for the specified deposit. And they get a remarkable return rate - 97% of the bottles and 20% of the cans.

And the container industry paralleled Environment Ontario's Litter Campaign with its own Littercheck cleanup program.

I haven't seen enough indication that manufacturers of other consumer products are concerned about the eventual disposal problems their products can create.

We have a personal responsibility for our garbage. That's something industry and the individual have to learn.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing because I am distressed by the condition of a cemetery.

It is located on Highway 62 on the east side, just south of White Lake Cemetery, opposite a sign reading "Huntingdon Connection X Hastings Road IX, Across #62 on the west is Bethesda Church, and on the same side (east) two lots south is a building called "Dorney L.O.L." This cemetery is entirely overgrown with brush and high weeds and has been in this condition for several years. The headstones show it is an old cemetery, and also that people of fair affluence were once buried there. Doesn't anybody care now?

It is not my business, but every time I drive by it hurts. I am also writing the North Hastings Review in Madoc. Perhaps a service club or youth group can do something.

Yours very truly,
"Northern Cottager"

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Even the loss of two front teeth hasn't spoiled Martin's good looks. Unlike some children who hate to let the gap show, Martin seems proud of it as his wide smile suggests. Maybe he realizes losing teeth is a sign of growing up.

Martin is six, an appealing child of English, Scottish, Irish and French-Canadian descent. He is slightly built with wide-set blue eyes, light brown hair and fair skin. His only health problem is an allergy to penicillin.

Outgoing Martin craves affection. He is very sensitive to the feelings of the people in his life — he knows if they are happy or sad and especially how they feel towards him, even if those feelings are not put into words. He is responsive to warmth and gentleness.

Martin is an active youngster who likes riding his bicycle and skating. He loves animals, especially elephants, and he looks for all the animal programs on television. He enjoys picture books, music and Disney movies. Martin is in Grade one and is not expected to excel academically.

This youngster has suffered a number of rejections in his short life so he needs the warmth and assurance that he is wanted and loved. He should be the youngest in a family where the parents are relaxed, understanding and involved.

To inquire about adopting Martin, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, ask your Children's Aid Society.

Whole wheat crop now sold

The Ontario Wheat Producers' Marketing Board has sold its entire stock of milling grade 1972 crop wheat.

K. A. Standing, secretary-manager of the marketing board announced the sale of more than 3.7 million bushels to Canadian International Development Agency for world food aid. Destination will include several countries, the names of which were not disclosed.

Mr. Standing revealed the sale will dispose of all stocks presently owned by the marketing board of milling quality, leaving only about 400,000 bushels of sprouted lower quality stocks unsold.

The sale calls for immediate shipment from St. Lawrence ports.

Mr. Standing said one boat, the Gordon C. Leach, picked up wheat recently at Sarnia and Walkerville for dispatch to Port Cartier in the lower St. Lawrence for transfer to ocean vessels.

TOOTH DECAY CURED?

Dental scientists are optimistic that complete control of tooth decay can be a reality within 10-20 years. One study recently reported involves the use of an enzyme called dextranase to control decay. The experiment has yet to be conducted with humans.

This enzyme apparently attacks a bacterial product associated with decay. This product is called dextran and is involved in the forming of tartar. Tartar sticks to the teeth, irritating the gums and providing a nest for bacteria which produce the acids that attack the teeth.

Scientists believe that the enzyme can destroy dextran, causing tartar to break down and cause fewer cavities and gum disease.

Several other studies involve the use of multiple fluorides to prevent decay. Fluorides have been proven highly effective against tooth decay. Countless studies show that children who have been drinking fluoridated water since birth have as much as 65% less decay than children who do not receive the benefits of fluoridation.

Bell lowers rates for over 400 miles

It will be possible to place a one-minute telephone call across Canada for as little as 95 cents during the day, or 30 cents after midnight, under new long distance rates, filed today by all members of the Trans-Canada Telephone System.

The new rates, which include both increases and decreases, both come into effect on Nov. 5. The application for the rates was filed by Bell with the Canadian Transport Commission, and by the other members of the Trans-Canada Telephone System with their regulatory authorities.

These rate changes apply only to calls to locations outside the area served by Bell Canada (Ontario, Quebec and parts of the North). Rates for calls within Bell's area of operations are not affected.

The proposed rates include:

* The introduction of a one-minute minimum charge (compared to three minutes at present) for customer-dialed calls across Canada. Bell introduced a one-minute minimum for calls within its area of operations last year.

* Increased charges for person-to-person calls, and for almost all other operator-handled calls. Rates for customer-dialed long distance calls of over three minutes up to 400 miles will generally increase. Calls over 400 miles will either remain at the present rate or cost less depending on the duration of the call and the distance involved.

* A two-hour extension of the late-night calling period, from midnight to 6 a.m., instead of 6 a.m. as at present.

* A simpler form of discounts with 30% off the regular day rate for calls dialed in the evening (6 p.m. to midnight) and on Sunday, and 50% off during the night (midnight to 6 a.m.) with a maximum of 30 cents a minute for any night-time customer-dialed call (or 90 cents for three minutes compared to $1.00 at present).

R.W. Carleton, Bell's local manager said the proposed rate schedule is designed to encourage customers to dial their own calls, to take advantage of the economics of the automatic switched network. In places where direct dialing service is not available, station-to-station calls would be charged at the dialed rate.

BE GENEROUS WHEN THE CANVASSER CALLS

September 22. The day Canada meets the 1973 Fords and Mercurys. September 22. The day Team Canada meets the Soviet Union in Moscow.

September 22 is a big day for Canadians. For the first time, from the Soviet Union, you'll see many of Canada's best professional hockey players meet the best that the Soviet Union has to offer.

And, on the same day, at Ford dealers and Mercury dealers, you'll see the best new cars we've ever offered—from small economy cars right up to the ultimate in automobile perfection—the 1973 models from Ford and Mercury.

Your kind of cars. Pinto, Maverick, Mustang, Torino, Ford and Thunderbird at Ford dealers.

Comet, Cougar, Montego, Meteor and Mercury Marquis at Mercury dealers.

And, at selected Ford and Mercury dealers you'll see the very best—Lincoln Continental and Continental Mark IV.

You'll see some styling changes and there are many, many technical innovations including the new energy absorbing bumper system. Cars built with better ideas by the Company that listens better.

You'll find they're cars built for you. Because we've been listening to you. Finding out what you want.

We know some of you want the feel of a sports car while others want a car that's big and luxurious. To some, ride is the most important factor. To others, it's quietness. And still others feel that size and ease of handling come first.

We've taken all these factors into consideration. The result—the 1973 models from Ford and Mercury. The best new cars we've ever offered.

If, by chance, you don't get the opportunity to see the 1973 Fords and Mercurys at your dealers, watch for them on the live or replay telecasts of the Canada/Soviet hockey game. Ford of Canada is a co-sponsor in bringing this exciting international event into your home.

All in all, September 22, 1972 should be quite a day for Canadians.

See the new models at your Ford and Mercury dealers.

And while you're there, get your Official Home TV Program for the Moscow series. AVAILABLE TO LICENCED DRIVERS SEPTEMBER 22 AT PARTICIPATING DEALERS(SUPPLY LIMITED)

Presbyterial UCW meets in Belleville

The first characteristic of Christian Development is to be concerned about the present, as Jesus was when He went about doing good. What we are, what the world is now, is important, not just preparing for the future. So said Dr. Harriet Christie, as she spoke on the theme, "Christian Development" at the School for women of the United Church held at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac on Sept. 8-10. Rev. Dr. Christie, who is Deputy Secretary of the Division of Mission, listed four other characteristics which are also goals: To be freed by the truth, free to be and to find depths of joy, compassion and creativity. Caring - a special kind, having a more sensitive conscience. Struggle - allow ourselves to struggle, to doubt, even despair and find what God is saying in his world. Celebration - we are involved in a life which comes from God so celebrate with our whole being.

On Friday night Dean Evelyn Redpath and Leadership Development Chairman, Mrs. C. R. Whitham welcomed about 200 enthusiastic campers from Bay of Quinte Conference and launched the School with the introduction of the theme. On Saturday morning Dr. Christie introduced the adult study book, "Jesus of Nazareth, the Galilean Ministry." This is an exploration into the teachings of Jesus as given in the synoptic gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke.

Each of the presbyterials in the Conference presented one facet of the theme, "Our Church at Work." Lindsay dramatized a marriage counselling session and asked the question, "Is the church meeting its obligations in strengthening marriage?" Co-bourg wondered how the church could help the Indian with his greatest problem - the white man. What can the church do to help overcome racial prejudice and legal inequalities, and at the same time help preserve Indian culture. Both Belleville and Renfrew explored the church's role with youth, from Sunday morning nurseries to what is needed to make young people feel at home in church. Belleville felt the problem was finding interested and dedicated leaders for various groups. Renfrew presented a "hot line" show where Tina, a lively and creative teen-aged church member attempted to answer questions frequently asked by the older generation. The church needs youth and youth needs God. Kingston used posters and clippings as visual aids to demonstrate the need for concern for both mentally and physically handicapped. They ended with the prayer, "God let me be aware." Many ideas were presented by Peterborough for creative leisure, considering the increased leisure time many people will have. Oshawa's presentation was on creative retirement with the key word being "preparation." Many facets were given from hobbies to health, to government and social services available.

In the evening each presbyterial presented a skit around the campfire. Mrs. Hilde Toll contributed by leading in music. Mrs. G. Gilson gave information on literature and the new material for sale. At various times the campers broke into groups to conduct Bible study and discuss the presentations and this made good fellowship among all. On Sunday morning a Communion service was conducted at breakfast by Dr. Harriet Christie. Bible study by Rev. V. Zuehlend and worship by Mrs. Toll and a team from the Toronto Conference brought the program to a close.

Mt. Pleasant UCW

(By Mrs. Percy MacMullen)

On Wednesday evening, Sept. 13th, Mount Pleasant United Church Women convened at the church hall for the first meeting of the autumn season. The program convenors, Mrs. Claire Knight and Mrs. Doug Pyear arranged a large array of posters depicting the "Live-Longer" part of Stewardship. Literature outlining the Mission work carried on in Hazleton, Angola, Brazil and other centres was placed on long tables. Red badges on the theme were worn by each of the 37 members in attendance.

Mrs. Robert Hoard, president, opened with a poem and a welcome to all. All sang "Saviour Bless Us" and "An Evening Blessing." Mrs. Milton Shaw provided a piano prelude of quiet music and accompanied the hymns.

Miss Brenda Williams read the July minutes and roll call was answered with visitation in homes and hospitals.

Mrs. Eldon Chapman read messages of thanks from Frank Hutchinson, Garth Joslin, Mary Hoard, and Ron and Sharon Stevens.

Mrs. Burton Sharpe gave the financial statement and Mrs. Doug Pyear outlined the catering in August. Fifteen dollars was voted to the Junior Choir for supplies. The fall rally will be held at Spring Brook on October 19th.

Mrs. Herbert Smith gave a message re Chr. Stewardship. Several items of business were discussed.

The program opened with the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie." Mrs. Knight gave meditating thoughts on Stewardship and Mrs. Pyear pinned the posters on a spinning wheel. These included: Stewardship is caring when it is needed; Our world needs money to meet the want, brains to tackle its problems, and love to heal its hurts; Christian Stewardship finds expression in joy, in love, in readiness to give of time, of self, abilities, energy, money and other possessions, thus sharing our all; Christian Stewardship is an attitude of mind and spirit and a way of life; Christian Stewardship is the response of the individual and of the group to the demands of Christian faith and living.

A playette entitled, "A Stewardship Hope Chest" was presented by Margaret Hagerman, Marlene Bailey, Brenda Williams, Barbara Sager, Lucille Barrett, Barbara Chapman, Lorna Wrightman and Gayle Grills. The offering was gathered by Beatrice Harry and Ruby Knight and dedicated.

A Stewardship giving was of interest. Mrs. W.C. Cox rendered a vocal solo with Mrs. Kenneth Weaver as accompanist.

The group then matched up small posters and the meeting closed with the hymn, "I'd like to Teach the World to Sing," and prayer.

A delicious smorgasbord supper was then provided by Mrs. Mac Sharp and Mrs. James Hoard. The food was very attractive and the group enjoyed the special social hour.

Mount Pleasant Church Hall was filled to capacity on Friday evening, September 15th, when a double shower party was held for the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Jeffs, (nee Barbara Mc-Faul) and Mr. and Mrs. James Thain, (nee Carolyn Merrick). Many relatives and friends were in attendance from Hards, Carmel, Spring Brook and Wellman's.

The two brides were the recipients of lovely corsages. Rev. W.C. Cox was master of ceremonies and extended best wishes to the honored couple.

A Hee-Haw skit followed with Sally Knight was the director with Brenda Williams as commentator, Harvey Couch, Donald Campbell and Kenneth Couch furnished the music. Other members were Beatrice Harry, Joan Jeffs, Bernice Williams, Ruth Joslin, Lois Hoard and Dawn Cox who soloed. There were several items of assembly singing and a variety of jokes. ## Action Time?

Dear Mr. Politician:

Any candidate in either political riding which comes close to Stirling wants an issue of local interest. We have one - the so-called mail delivery from the Belleville Post Office to points north and return through Stirling to Belleville.

We well realize that this current delivery is being handled under contract by Hertz Truck Rental or a branch thereof. So far in the past few months delays have been caused by broken down vehicles, drivers getting to work late, and perhaps no one being assigned to the job properly. These are what could be termed educated guesses, as there seems to be no answer. Local postmaster Herb Wall has asked repeatedly what is the problem and he cannot get any answers.

Who is to blame?

The company apparently has a contract, and it should have a performance clause in it, whereby the company is penalized if delivery is not made on time. A company the size of Hertz surely should have a sufficiently reliable truck to make this run without such frequent breakdowns.

What about the government angle? Is there so much patronage involved that the contractor is above reproach. Political patronage is decidedly not as rampant as it once was, but when this type of service continues, it makes one wonder just who controls the delivery of mail.

We are now in the midst of an election campaign, which so far has really produced little local excitement. Lee Grills has retired and George Hees is a candidate, but whether either would get anywhere with the government under present situations is doubtful. One Liberal candidate, George Cunningham, has been nominated, also NDP representative Richard Lunn, and by the time most read this, we should have candidates for all principal parties in Hastings, with the conventions held Tuesday and Wednesday.

At one time, the postal service took pride in delivering the mail under most hazardous conditions. Travel is immeasurably better now than when such pride was evident, and service, despite the installation of postal codes, multi-million dollar sorting machines and numerous other "advancements" have deteriorated.

If the local candidates want to do a service, let's dig out the causes of this mismanagement or mismanagement as the case may be and let the people know what the real score is.

More important, let's get some type of dependable mail service, six days a week and, except for reasonable interruptions, on time.

Yours sincerely,
Your Editor.

Joyce Jeffs is Feted At Shower

On Thursday evening, Sept. 21, a bridal shower in honor of Miss Joyce Jeffs was held at Island Park pavilion. The reception room was a bower of beauty with a large array of colorful bouquets of garden flowers, pink and white bells and streamers were used for decoration with a special arrangement at the fireplace where a seat of honor was placed.

The dining table was centered with a large decorated cake lettered in honor of Joyce and flanked with silver candelabra.

The hostesses were Mrs. Claire Knight, Mrs. Ralph Carlisle, Mrs. Douglas Campbell and her daughter Brenda (Mrs. Garry Bateman).

Fifty eight guests were in attendance and included the ladies of the former Allan Public School section, and relatives and friends from Campbellford, Bonarlaw, Spring Brook, Belleville and Stirling.

Corsages were provided for the bride-to-be, her mother, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs; the groom's mother, Mrs. Robert Cosbey; and three grandmothers, Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. J.R. Belshaw of Campbellford and Mrs. William Rose, Bonarlaw. Mrs. Dave Potts of Island Park was also given a corsage.

The evening was spent with a choice of progressive games or making a bride's book. Four games of euchre were played and prizes were awarded to Joan Hookings of Belleville, Barbara Chapman and Helen McConnell.

The winner of a contest was Mrs. Maurice Smith of Campbellford. The bride's book was full of interesting items and at the close each one in attendance signed her name.

Mrs. Claire Knight was chair-lady. She spoke briefly and invited Joyce to have a seat of honor where she unwrapped a large array of miscellaneous gifts which were passed around for viewing.

The ribbons and bows were used to cover a three-tiered cardboard wedding cake. Two large decorated boxes held an assortment of pantry shelf items which were extra gifts.

Joyce voiced appreciative thanks for the party and gifts. The hostesses served a dainty buffet luncheon which included the special cake and ice-cream.

As the group left for home they extended personal best wishes to Joyce on her forthcoming marriage.

OF A demands end to taxes

"Inheritance taxes critically disrupt the transfer of the family farm from father to son. Often the tax load will force a young farmer to forfeit his inherited farm, in order to pay his father's death taxes," protests Gordon Hill, President, Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

Capital gains tax and succession duties will fall on the same person at the same time.

"This double tax load is especially harsh to young farmers because their assets are land, machinery, and livestock. Selling is often the only way to get enough cash. But, what is left may not be an economic farm."

Recently the Federation submitted a brief to the Advisory Committee on Succession Duties, calling for immediate repeal of the Succession Duties Act.

The committee will be making policy recommendations to the government.

"Succession duties on farm land are not taxes on productivity but on inflation. The farmer has no control over these pressures. They cost him money but give him no return."

The ability-to-pay principle in taxation has strong Federation support. This is why succession duties and gift tax are so aggressively opposed.

"The money raised by inheritance taxes on agriculture can never justify the damage to our farming community. The Ontario government has pledged to abolish succession duties in the future. Now is the time," says Hill.

Spring Brook 35th Anniversary

A number of friends and relatives met in the hall on Saturday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Bob Matthews on their 35th wedding anniversary. The Women's Institute catered for the event.

Senior Citizens hold meeting

The Senior Citizens spent a pleasant day last Thursday. The prizes went to Lenora Williams, Will Fitchett, Luella Bronson and Florence Dafe.

John Home's sister, Annie, all on her own, treated us to a very tasty lunch: homemade rolls and cookies, individual fruit salads and cheese.

Mary Cook thanked Annie for so nice a lunch and also introduced and welcomed Mrs. Martha Gray who was our only visitor.

Martha is a sister of Margaret Fitchett and lives at Plainfield. Our sympathy is extended to Edna Campbell, her two sisters Tilley and Pearl Cooke of Rawdon and her brother Carl Rollins of Belleville on their recent bereavement.

We congratulated Gertrude and Buttner Belshaw on their 67th wedding anniversary of recent date.

BARBEQUE SUCCESSFUL

Stirling Encampment No. 80, IOOF, held a very successful chicken barbecue on Wednesday, Sept. 20 to an estimated 275 persons. A variety of dishes were included in the menu, including scalloped potatoes, baked beans, tomatoes, salads and relishes, topped off with tea or coffee, rolls, cheese and a variety of delicious pies.

Many fine compliments were heard regarding the appetizing dinner and our thanks go out to the DeVries Brothers for the efficient manner in which they cooked the chicken, and to the ladies who prepared the various dishes.

Honors Teacher

On Sunday, Sept. 17th, at the close of Mount Pleasant Sunday School Sessions, Miss Joyce Jeffs was honored with a farewell party. She was given a seat of honor and her Primary Class of boys and girls each presented her with a flower and when put together they made a very pretty bouquet.

A clothes-pin contest followed when Joyce was pinned together with words of love and thanks. On behalf of the Sunday School, Lynn Joslin sang "Our Best to You."

Linda Hoard read an appreciative address and Dale Harry presented Joyce with a new United Church hymnary with her name engraved. Each member of the Sunday School signed a card as a memento of the occasion.

Joyce has served as a primary teacher for a few years and has been a very faithful worker. The Sunday School deeply appreciated her giving so much time and effort to further this department of church work.

Joyce voiced gracious thanks for the gift and the kind thoughts. Mrs. Howard Jeffs and Miss Margaret Hoard served special treats in honoring the occasion. Mrs. Herbert Smith, Superintendent of the Sunday School, expressed best wishes to Joyce and closed with prayer.

St. James CWL meets

Mass celebrated by Rev. Father McGarvey, preceded the first fall meeting which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Forestell. Ten members answered the roll call and the minutes of the June meeting were read, followed by the treasurer's report.

Members were reminded of the regional meeting to be held in St. Gregory's parish hall Picton, on Sunday the seventeenth of September.

The main business topic was the finalizing of plans for catering to the livestock sale on the twenty-fifth of September. It is sincerely hoped that all the parish will co-operate in this endeavor.

Reorganizing of the catechism classes were also discussed, two very inspiring poems entitled, "Prayers can't be answered unless they are prayed," and "Brighten up the corner where you are," written by Helen Steiner-Rice were read by Mrs. J. Ryan.

Closing prayers and Father's blessing brought the meeting to an end, which was followed by lunch served by the hostess and Mrs. G. Finnigan.

New Conservation Area Opened Sat.

On Sept. 23, 1972 a number of people, including children, gathered for the opening of another Moira Conservation area called, "The Sidney Conservation Area" in the seventh concession. This was the former Federal Department of Agriculture experimental Block in the Oak Hills.

The bright, sunny day found people roaming over the beautiful 33 acres planning unconsciously many possibilities for its future use.

At noon everyone decided it was an ideal spot for their picnic dinner, using the tables and benches that were provided.

Delbert Harvey of Tyendinaga acted as chairman for the opening. James Spry, chairman of the conservation area also spoke. Sidney introduced the Reeve of Sidney Township, Jack Bush, who officially declared the area open to the public for suitable use. He explained in his inspiring address that this part of Sidney was not yet developed consisting of two parts. This part drained into the Moira River and a nearby part area drained into the Lower Trent River. These two portions are now being set aside for a green belt for our use and the future generations to keep as an example and use of nature almost as it was originally. It is also a place where birds, insects and animals, etc. can still live and be studied by schools and other classes of science. The nearby "Sager Conservation Area" to be officially opened at a future date, will team up with this area to make an ideal place for people to rest, think, write, paint or just enjoy a time away from the hustle and congested settled areas.

Guy Hughes thanked the Reeve for his remarks in well-chosen words.

Mrs. Robin Jeffery of the Belleville Council and the Moira Authority gave an address also in appreciation of the effort and brought up - to date the many events planned for their 25th anniversary of the Moira Conservation - this being the first event for that year.

Several of the Boy Scouts of Belleville, under the leadership of Mr. Thompson, capably directed the tours and the parking.

Several of the ladies of the Organization served tea and coffee and were at hand to host the picnic using the well equipped building and giving a home-like touch to the area in their unselfish way.

Personal plates popular purchase

Ontario motorists will now have a wider choice in selecting their "Own Choice" of licence plates with the relaxation of the previously announced restrictions on the use of the letters "G", "H" and "Q".

Last month the Ministry of Transportation and Communications announced that within certain limitations and for a fee of $25 above the normal registration fees, motorists would be able to request licence plates for passenger cars and station wagons displaying three letters and three numbers of their own choice.

In response to public request, the Ministry of Transportation and Communications will now allow the letter "Q" to be used in any position of the alpha section on the Own Choice plates, and the letters "H" and "Q" in either the first or second position.

These letters were originally prohibited to eliminate confusion with the letter "I" and the numeral one, the letter "G" with the letter "C" and the letter "Q" with a zero.

The Special Plate office has received over 5,000 requests for the Own Choice plates, with most motorists requesting their initials, but one motorist who is obviously going to try harder requested a plate with the marking TWO-222.

To increase the probability of receiving the licence of your own choice, applications should be sent in before Oct. 1, 1972.

Own Choice plates can be requested by writing the Special Plate Office, Ministry of Transportation and Communications, Ferguson Block, Queen's Park, Toronto 182, Ontario.

Hydro Seeks Union Vote

The following is a summary of the latest offer by Ontario Hydro in an effort to settle the three month old strike, writes H.J. Cox.

"Ontario Hydro has made a new offer described as a final attempt to end the three month old strike by 12,000 of its 23,000 employees.

In an unusual move, Hydro is urging CUPE Local 1000 members to request a vote on the new offer. Union members have never voted in the current dispute knowing what issues they were accepting or rejecting. The original strike vote was taken in April before Hydro had an opportunity to present any monetary offer.

ANNA AND THE KING

Yul Brynner recreates his Academy award-winning role of the King of Siam in a new TV series, Anna and The King; Samantha Eggar also stars as the schoolteacher who goes to the 19th century court of Siam to tutor his many children. Based on the well-known story which later became a stage and movie musical (The King and I), the TV series will be seen on the CBC television network on Sundays at 7:30 p.m.

vinegar or cider
2 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. each of cinnamon, paprika, black pepper, chili powder, and a dash of ground cloves.

Combine these ingredients, and boil for 15 minutes until the onions become somewhat transparent. It's ready to use as a basting.

Accompaniment Sauce

This can be served as what our family calls "dunking" sauce by the following: Put the above sauce in a blender to smooth out all the solid onion. You will have about 2 cups of sauce. Put this in a large saucepan, add eight cups of water. This can be done in immediate succession or all at once, if you like. Bring all to the boil. Now take off some of the liquid and mix until smooth with 7 Tbsp. of corn starch. Stir in the corn starch mixture to thicken.

You can now set this aside until ready to reheat for table use. One of our children likes this sauce when heated, spread on a plain piece of bread. I have learned to do this myself, and love it. I do this, of course, only when my fellow members of the world's oldest and most respected gourmet society are not looking.

Hockey Lessons

Post mortems will continue for some time about the Canada-Russia hockey series. By the time most read this, the series will be either concluded or have one game left. National pride excluded, the winner of this series is really incidental, provided the Canadian hockey authorities have learned that two radically different systems were at issue rather than just two hockey teams.

Much comment has been already written and spoken that from a calibre standpoint, the coming National Hockey League season will be a let-down, and for a while it will. No team starting the season is in the condition of the Russians, and none has a lineup comparable to the Canadians. With the recent expansion of the NHL, its normal calibre will be less than it has been, which is much worse than prior to the original expansion, a condition to be expected.

Only time will tell what future international series will be held between Canada and other national teams at the level now being played. It seems to be already settled that the NHL does not want another all-star effort. The malleson learned so far is that to take a group of stars, regardless of ability, and expect it to compete with a team which plays together all the time is an unrealistic situation.

The principal lesson we should have learned, as the so-called world hockey authorities, is that two entirely opposite systems prevail. Under the Russian method, in sport just as in any other field of endeavor, they channel their personnel according to ability to different teams, where they are melded into a winning combination. Here, we allow each team to split up the cream of the yearly crop, and while this is the free enterprise method, it prevents the formation of a truly national club in the sense that European teams generally, and Russians in particular, develop their teams. Our present system has been in effect too long to alter drastically, but if we wish to compete on national levels effectively, some alternate method will have to be found.

There is another lesson we hope the officials of NHL and other teams have learned. The European coaching system has kept pace with the times, whereas our own coaches have retained the old methods, with the exception that more equipment has been introduced to facilitate the training in some instances. European reliance on films and other audio-visual aids shows that there is useful merit in these systems, and if we are to try and retain a position near the top, we should be considering implementing such methods.

Let's go on the right track before we fall even further behind than we are now.

A Weekly Meditation

(By Rev. Charles E. Staples)
In the Gospel of the New Testament, there are seven different accounts of Jesus healing on the Sabbath day. Anyone would think that a record like that would have made a man the most liked and popular of all. But in Jesus' day it only made the Pharisees and Scribes more bitter toward him and more determined that Jesus was a dangerous irreligious law-breaker who must be stopped.

In our day Jesus would have been warmly greeted and supported by sports enthusiasts, recreation and entertainment devotees. They would have seen in Jesus an ally; someone who might help them break the laws governing Sunday sports and entertainment.

But there is a world of difference between Jesus, the Healer of men and women on the Sabbath; and John Canuck, the sports enthusiast, who changed laws governing Sunday sports. Jesus was moved out of compassion for human need to heal on the Sabbath day.

In Luke's Gospel, chapter 4, we read of Jesus healing a man with dropsy. The Pharisees, who stand by silent to the question Jesus puts to them as to whether it is lawful to heal on the Sabbath day, hear Jesus point out the inhumanity of their present sabbath regulations. Open wells were quite common in Palestine and the frequent cause of accidents, such as animals falling in. It was perfectly allowable to rescue an animal which had fallen in but it was wrong to help a man on the Sabbath day.

In each case of a Sabbath healing, Jesus healed out of a sense of compassion for man's needs. I'm not sure we have changed the nature of our Sundays out the same sense of compassion. Certainly we need to re-examine the priorities we have established for our Sundays. The killing traffic of our Sunday's highways surely indicates something is wrong. Our devotion to hockey and baseball to the neglect of worshipping God needs correcting and our weekly playing at noisy machines over some quiet moments of reflection should tell us something alarming about what kind of people we're becoming.

The Pharisees, who were alarmed at Jesus' healings, thought of him as a dangerous law-breaker. They discovered what an amazing lack of a sense of proportion they had. They would go to endless trouble to formulate and obey petty rules and regulations and yet they would count it a sin to relieve a man from suffering on the Sabbath. It's this sense of proportion which we need to be reminded about today in our Sunday observance. There is no need to return to the austere bleak Sundays of the past, but there is some need within each one of us to find not only moments of peace and quiet tranquillity, but along with them opportunities to gain a truer perspective about life, to gain a sense of proportion between ourselves and the created images of God and He who is our Creator.

Keeping it clean

with Bill Dodds

Recently, The Toronto Star ran a series of articles on the Great Lakes and pollution control. I staff writer E.H. Hausman asked Mr. Hausman if I could pass it on to you. Here it is in his words:

"If Canada is far ahead of the U.S. in cleaning up the Great Lakes, most credit belongs to the Ontario Water Resources Commission (OWRC), now absorbed into the province's ministry of the Environment.

The greatest single advantage OWRC had was that it was created very early - during the days of pollution and water control, back in 1956. By the time that water management and quality became a popular issue in the world 10 years later, OWRC had already gained momentum and was demonstrating that common-sense policies and legislation on a variety of fronts could work. These included the gamut of water quality management: drinking water, farming, municipal sewage, industry, flood control and use of recreation lands.

By 1966, when the OWRC began, increases in population and industry combined with higher living standards had resulted in an ominous formula: Every time population doubled, the province's water demand tripled. Sewage plants designed for villages suddenly had to serve cities, and water mains designed to serve hundreds had to serve thousands.

Industry's needs grew also. 70,000 gallons of water needed to make a ton of steel, 200,000 for a ton of newspaper, 500,000 for a ton of aluminium, and even 450 gallons to make a gallon of beer. The strain on postwar water resources was tremendous. Fortunately Ontario decided to do something about it, and OWRC was formed.

It was given powers virtually unique in North America and rare in the world. It had the authority to draw up standards, based on new research it carried out. It had the authority to tell municipalities what standards had to be met, and then help them finance new plants that would meet those standards. It also drew up regulations for industrial effluent, for septic tanks and a host of other areas in which water quality played a part. It was given authority to give expert advice, and to supervise and police its laws.

In the 15 years the plan has been running, all cities in Ontario now have secondary sewage treatment; Windsor was one of the last. The plan is almost complete for Ontario towns, and indeed most communities are well on their way.

The OWRC record in factory clean-up is also impressive, though a great deal of work is yet to be done. OWRC uses the policy of working with industry as an adviser and guide, rather than simply stepping in and shutting down a plant that doesn't conform. It takes longer this way, but upsets the economy far less.

of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario. Approximately 70 ladies came to help celebrate this event.

Mrs. George Williams welcomed everyone and gave a special welcome to the Institute members from Stirling, Ivanhoe, Rylestone and Marmora. She then read a poem of friendship, which was followed by the singing of O Canada.

Mrs. William Barlow presented a short address from which she mentioned that there were three kinds of women: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, and those who don't know what is happening.

A moment of silent prayer in respect of the early women pioneers followed the address, with a special prayer by Mrs. Williams. Mrs. Clayton Burkitt in centennial dress, presented the story of the Women's Institute, with the belief that achievements of the past were an encouragement for the future. Mrs. Burkitt told much of the history of the founder of the Women's Institutes, Mrs. Adelaide Hunter Hoodless. She finished her story with a poem that expressed the kind of "rights of women" that God will bless.

The group then had the pleasure of hearing two vocal numbers from Mrs. Goldie McInroy who represented Stirling W.I. Her first song was written by Mrs. Ken Broadworth, "The Beautiful Bay of Quinte" and the second, "Bless This House."

Mrs. Percy Carman representing Marmora W.I. read a humorous poem, "He just hollers howdy and I holler back hello."

A time of group singing followed with Mrs. Goldie McInroy leading, and Mrs. Haggerty of Ivanhoe at the piano. Most of the songs were from the hit parade "7" years ago such as Long Long Trail, Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet, Let the Rest of the World Go By, School Days, etc. Mrs. Roy Finch representing Rylestone W.I. read a poem, "What the World Would Be Like If" explaining some of the "IFS."

A poem written by the late Mrs. Dave Wellman of Bonarlaw titled "If You Belong to the Institute" was read by Mrs. Cyril McKeown.

This poem gave some of the benefits that W.I. members enjoy. Another poem, "The New Member" written by Mrs. Lloyd Crawford was read by Mrs. Ward McInroy.

Mrs. Williams then invited all the ladies to look at the table of antiques and the Tweedsmuir Book.

On a table in view of everyone was an Anniversary cake beautifully decorated for the occasion by Mrs. Robert Barnes of Spring Brook. A few pictures were taken as Mrs. George Thompson and Mrs. Arthur Brown cut the cake. Following this a lovely lunch was served by members of the Spring Brook W.I.
